Santa Ana Secures Crusaders' Convention

EXPECT 4000 AT SESSIONS ON LABOR DAY

Appearing personally before the council for the Crusaders, young people's organization of the Four Square Gospel churches of the nine western states, the Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor of the local church, last night succeeded in having Santa Ana named as the convention city for the Crusaders' annual meeting, to bring 4000 young people here on Labor day, September 6.

The convention will be the largest ever held in Santa Ana and will include a mile-long parade on the morning of the opening day.

Armed with a letter of invitation from the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, the Rev. Mr. Parham and Mrs. Parham attended the Crusaders' council meeting, held at Clifton's cafeteria, last night, in Los Angeles. In competition with other cities of Southern California which wanted the convention, the Rev. Mr. Parham made his appeal and won.

The convention is to be held under personal auspices of Almer Semple McPherson, the Rev. Mr. Parham pointed out, and will be led by Crusaders' commanders from eastern, middle western and northern states. The Crusaders, an organization 10,000 strong, is made up of youths between the ages of 15 and 35 years of age. From California, Washington, Oregon, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana, the Crusaders will come by special trains and busses.

The Rev. Harold Chalfant, national commander of the Crusaders, who left here Sunday after two weeks of special services at the local church, and Dr. W. B. Black,

GETS ACTION

Winning his appeal before the Crusaders' council of the Four Square Gospel churches in Los Angeles last night, the Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor of the local church, was instrumental in bringing the Crusaders' convention of young people, 4000 strong, to Santa Ana.

COUNTY FACES FLOOD THREAT

With skies overcast and rain predicted for tonight and tomorrow, Orange county today faced a new flood threat more menacing than any yet experienced this winter.

"Another four-inch rain would be just too bad," was the way M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer gloomily summed the prospect.

Tells Apprehensions

His apprehensions, he said, were based upon the silted condition of the Santa Ana river channel, levees weakened by the last two storms, and the added danger of floods from a new source—the Santiago creek watershed.

The Santiago dam was filled by the two recent floods to a point within several feet of its spillway. Another heavy rain would send water spilling over the dam into the creek channel, to race down past Orange and Santa Ana into Santa Ana river.

Any considerable run-off from that stream added to an already swollen river, would be "bad news" to the river levees near the Santiago creek mouth, said Thompson.

Inasmuch as the creek carried almost its full capacity of flow during the recent rains, without any contribution from the watershed above the dam, fear was felt for possible overflow in Orange and Santa Ana, if the water comes over the dam.

Dam Life Saver

The dam, Thompson said, was a life saver during the last two storms.

Meanwhile, every effort is being bent to brace the weak spots in the river banks against a new flood. Since the last storm, dredging shovels have been at work at various points along the channel, bolstering the levees.

The Newbert Protection district shovel is at work in the area between Grand Grove road and Santa Ana boulevard. Two other shovels are working above that area, one between Chapman avenue and Struck avenue, and the other near Richfield road.

WEINBLATT TURNS AGAINST WERNERS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Deputy District Attorney George Stahlman announced today that Joseph Weinblatt, politician, turned state's witness and will testify against Helen and Erwin Werner, on trial charged with soliciting a bribe in connection with reinstatement of a revoked liquor license.

Stahlman said charges against Weinblatt, a co-defendant with the Werners, will be dismissed.

Strikers In L. A. Bakery Tire Of Pie

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Eleven sit-down strikers in Willie Plecty's pie factory were a little uncomfortable about the belt lines today after a 24-hour diet of straight pastry.

It was pies, pies everywhere and not a ham sandwich in sight. A wandering hot tamale peddler barely escaped with his life as the 11, glutted with flavors of vanilla, apple, mince, cherry, lemon and other pie fillings, wondered if their genial boss was not getting more satisfaction out of their strike than anybody else.

Willie Plecty, the boss, certainly made it as pleasant as possible for his sit-down bakers, at least as pleasant as it could be on a pie diet. He even went so far as to provide them with bicarbonate of soda. The bakers didn't know whether that was meant as a helpful suggestion or just plain human kindness.

The strikebound pie factory, which Plecty and his family were doing their best to run while they joked with the sit-downers, was popular patrol ground for the Los Angeles police. That is, it was popular yesterday and last night, but today even the humane bulls were considering a sit down strike of their own. They had nothing against Willie's pies, except that they had eaten too many, and they were beginning to hope that somebody would start a strike in a potato chip garage or a hot dog foundry, or anywhere else for variety.

And through it all Willie Plecty grinned and went about baking pies, while the sit-downers watched and wondered if they hadn't, literally, bitten off more than they could chew.

ASK CHRYSLER, UNION PARLEY

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—(UP)—A demand for a national collective bargaining conference between officials of the Chrysler corporation and the United Automobile Workers' union was made today in a telegram to Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, it was disclosed at auto union headquarters.

The telegram, sent to Chrysler's New York office, read: "Representing a majority of your employees who are members of the United Automobile Workers of America, we hereby request a national conference with you or your appointed representatives at the earliest possible date for the purpose of working out a collective bargaining agreement."

"We suggest as a convenient time for us the first part of next week at a place mutually agreed upon."

The telegram was signed by Richard T. Frankenstein, Detroit organizer for the union, and "a committee representing Chrysler employees."

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Employees of the Chrysler Motor company plant here apparently timing their labor activities to coincide with demands made in eastern units, today were reported completing plans to organize for collective bargaining.

Circulars were said to have been distributed calling for a mass meeting Friday night near the plant. None of the employees, however, would comment on the reported union activity.

GENDARMES KILL WIVES OF MINERS

FUENKIRCHEN, Hungary, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Gendarmes fired a volley today into a group of wives and relatives of miners who are on a stay-down hunger strike, killing two and injuring three.

The crowd was demonstrating on behalf of the miners barricaded in the pit and tried to storm the mine entrance. The pit mouth was barricaded and surrounded by a cordon of troops and police.

S. A. TRAFFIC PLAN IS HIT BY LEADERS

Proposal to shunt through highway traffic to the outer edge of the city, along Bristol street, following improvement of that thoroughfare, was protested today by Santa Ana business men, following a cursory checkup made by Phil Brown, secretary-manager of the Business Men's association.

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and several city councilmen also have indicated such a proposal, if carried out, would be against the best interests of the city.

Added Expense Cited "If Bristol street were to be improved as a through traffic route or if Santa Ana boulevard were to be extended, there would be considerable need for more traffic patrol," the chief declared today.

"The state already has given approval to the state gasoline tax spread to include expense money for improvement of the major thoroughfares running through downtown Santa Ana and such a proposed change would upset the present arrangements materially. Under the present traffic system here, the police department now is adequate to cope with traffic problems and it seems to me it would be both to the disadvantage of the merchants and an added expense to the city itself to improve a highway along the edge of the city when we already have several good through thoroughfares nearer the business districts."

EXTRA DIES AS BOMB EXPLODES

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Sudden death in a motion picture mimic warfare scene on the Universal lot struck down George Daley instantly and endangered a number of other extras when a paper bomb exploded early today.

The 40-year-old extra, an expert powder handler and a veteran machine gunner of the World war, was killed outright when the bomb exploded, blowing pieces of a thin cement wall into a machine gun nest in which Daley was working the gun for the cameras.

His companion, Frank Hutter, escaped injury as did a number of other extras who were in the sham warfare trenches.

The group was at work on a battle scene in the picture "The Road Back." The accident occurred at the height of the realistic battle sequence. Machine guns were rattling, cannon were adding their greater noise and shells were bursting, when the bomb let go, shattering the cement wall and driving fragments of it into Daley's chest.

Script of the movie had called for the bomb to explode in front of the wall behind which Daley and Hutter were hiding. Police Officers O. H. Tucker and E. A. Kramer, who investigated the explosion, said someone apparently had misjudged the intensity of the bomb in ordering it to be exploded near the wall.

WORKERS GRANTED WAGE INCREASES

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—(UP)—The Aluminum Company of America today announced a 10 per cent pay raise for its 20,000 hourly rated employees. This will add $3,000,000 annually to their pay envelopes.

The increase is effective March 1 for plants at New Kensington, Pa., Niagara Falls and Massena, N. Y.; Alcoa, Tenn.; Badin, N. C.; Cleveland, Detroit, Edgewater and Garwood, N. J.; East St. Louis, Ill., Fairfield, Conn., and Oakland, Calif.

"These increases in the general wage rate at the plants is in addition to numerous individual and group adjustments also made by plant officials during the past 60 days," a company announcement said.

"AND SUDDEN DEATH"

Pictured below, demolished against a tall eucalyptus tree, is the automobile of Lloyd Wills, Buena Park, which brought sudden death to Ray Welty, 21, Orange youth, before it finally came to rest after crashing through a road repair barricade. Welty, according to investigation, a watchman at the location, was standing in front of the tree seen on the driver's side of the car. He died shortly after the accident.

JURY CONVICTS DR. TOWNSEND

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, elderly retired physician, who rode to fame on his $200 a month old age pension program, was convicted by a federal court today on charges of contempt of the house of representatives.

The jury of 11 men and one woman decided that Townsend placed himself in contempt when he stalked out of house investigating committee hearing and refused to return for further questioning. The technical charge was wilful failure to comply with a committee subpoena.

Two former lieutenants of Townsend, Dr. Clinton Wunder and John B. Kiefer, pleaded guilty on similar charges two weeks ago and were fined $100 and given one-year suspended sentences.

Townsend's conviction made him liable to a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and one year in jail, and a minimum penalty of $100 fine and one month in jail.

Elisha Hanson, Townsend's attorney, immediately moved for a new trial. The court deferred sentence for three days to consider the motion.

"I rather expected the verdict," Townsend said calmly.

Asked what effect the conviction would have on his old age pension movement, he replied: "Lord bless you, I'll be all the more active. I think it will be the general opinion that I have been a victim of injustice. Our organization should be spurred on to greater efforts."

Justice Peyton Gordon previously had instructed the jury

TWO ARRESTED ON L. A. BRIBE CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Two officials of the state board of equalization were taken in custody today on suspicion of accepting bribes in an asserted liquor license "fixing" case.

District Attorney's Investigator Charles Griffen reported that his men had arrested George K. Thornton, deputy in the sales tax division of the equalization board, and Milton A. Huot, prosecutor for the liquor trial division of the equalization board.

According to the investigator, Thornton was taken in custody at a small cafe when he assertedly accepted $100 in marked money from Mrs. Agnes T. O'Brien to obtain renewal of a liquor license.

Action On Court Bill Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Objections by Minority Leader Charles L. McNary, R., Ore., and Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, today delayed senate action on the bill providing full pay retirement for supreme court justices at the age of 70.

Holt Joins Group Delay in consideration of the retirement measure came after Sen. Rush D. Holt, D., W. Va., announced he was joining the senate group opposing President Roosevelt's reorganization. Holt's announcement brought the opponents' group total to 35.

The retirement bill considered by some congressional leaders as a possible basis for compromise on the president's reorganization plan, was on the calendar and called by the clerk during the calendar hour.

McNary and King asked that it be laid over. Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., handling the bill, later tried to return to consideration of the measure but his move was halted by objections. The Nevada senator did not press his motion.

Sees Speedy Action

He was expected to try to bring the measure up later this week in an effort to get speedy action on the bill.

In view of the number of senators who have stated opposition to the program, senate leaders declared that unlimited senate debate on the plan was certain. To restrict senate debate by closure rules a two-thirds vote is necessary.

"The supreme court proposal as I view it, is not sound nor honest," Holt said.

FITTS DELAYS STRIKE ACTION

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Striking Douglas aircraft workers today won at least one day of freedom from legal interference in their "sit-down" strike when District Attorney Buren Fitts declined to take action in the controversy immediately.

Fitts conferred with Police Chief Charles Dice of Santa Monica, President Donald W. Douglas of the company and other Santa Monica officials. Following the conference, Fitts said no action would be taken against the strikers by his office pending another conference tomorrow.

Fears of violence at the plant were allayed at least temporarily today when 300 "sit-down" strikers permitted 600 members of the engineering department to report for work.

The engineers and other technical craftsmen walked through a picket line at the main entrance but were not molested although a crowd was gathered before the entrances.

Several dozen Santa Monica police were stationed near the plant to handle possible disturbances but officers made no effort to clear away the crowd gathered around the building.

Although the engineers were at work, 5600 other employees remained idle as the huge plant was shut

FAIL TO SETTLE FANSTEEL STRIKE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 24.—(UP)—Gov. Henry Horner emerged from all-night conferences with steel strikers' representatives and company officials of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation today and announced he had been unable to effect a settlement of the seven-day sit-down strike at the company's Waukegan plant.

"I have made certain suggestions to both groups which I have asked each to consider," the governor said. "I expect to hear from them later today."

Horner, obviously weary after more than eight hours in conference with the two groups, retired immediately on cessation of the meetings.

The governor had tried since 11 o'clock yesterday morning to bring the two groups together. Both, however, refused to retreat from earlier stands and Horner was forced to play his role as mediator in separate meetings.

CORPORATION HEADS LOOK OVER SITES

Officials of a million dollar corporation engaged in the manufacture of steric acid and oils used in the curing of rubber, a base for face powder and crayon were in Santa Ana yesterday seeking a location for a west coast branch factory.

Destroyed By Fire

The corporation, the William Hardesty company of New York, has been operating a western factory in Wilmington for several years. Last week the plant was destroyed by fire and officers of the company decided to seek a new location nearer the center of Southern California distribution.

W. J. O'Connell, of Long Beach, manager of the western division of the corporation and Hardesty, head of the firm that bears his name, were in Santa Ana yesterday inspecting prospective sites and interviewing officials of the various business organizations in the community.

Fullerton Seeks Plant

According to O'Connell and Hardesty, directors of the organization have practically decided to locate the western branch of the company in Orange county. Selection of the site probably will lie between Santa Ana and Fullerton, O'Connell said.

Both Santa Ana and Fullerton are said to be making strong bids for the new industry with Fullerton, through Harry Mays, secretary of the chamber of commerce there, telling O'Connell and Hardesty that his organization is ready to meet any reasonable terms outlined by the corporation.

Officials of the corporation, however, have not made any requests for concessions and represented that they were conducting an investigation as to available sites, transportation facilities and other manufacturing requirements.

CONTRACT FOR GASOLINE LET

Shipkey and Pearson, of Santa Ana, Orange county distributors for Rio Grande Cracked and 12 cents for Rio Grande G grade, was awarded the 1937 contract for supplying gasoline for Orange county Purchasing Agent Eugene Fenson.

The firm's bid of 15 1-2 cents per gallon for Ethyl, 12 1-2 cents for Rio Grande Cracked and 12 cents for Rio Grande G grade, was accepted by Fenson and the award made which will give the firm the county's 175,000-gallon business for this year.

Fourteen bids were received, all being identical in the price bid, as happened a week ago when Fenson rejected all of the 19 bids received. The price bid today also was the same as that contained in the former bids.

However, two factors in the Shipkey and Pearson bid which were not contained in the other bids won the contract. One of these was the proviso that the county shall get the benefit of any drop in the price of gasoline during the year. The other was an agreement to permit the county to designate points of delivery of the gasoline anywhere in the county, without additional charge. Other bidders made their bids apply to delivery in Santa Ana, and added a differential charge for some of the portions of the county more remote from the county seat.

SEEK ADDITIONAL DRY DOCK FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Secretary of Navy Claude A. Swanson has asked that the bureau of the budget recommend an additional $5,000,000 for construction of the proposed huge floating dry dock for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, he revealed today.

The budget bureau has not replied to his request, Swanson said, if an additional $5,000,000 is obtained the navy will have a total of $15,000,000 for construction of this dry dock. Congress at its last session appropriated $10,000,000 for the structure but the sum was found insufficient for construction of the floating dry dock either in private yards or navy yards.

LEGISLATION BEING SOUGHT BY RANGERS

Pounding in trip-hammer fashion, a series of heavy blows will be struck beginning next week, with the aim of obtaining enactment of all legislation that will promote interests of the Orange county farm bureau, and which will be up for consideration when the state legislature reconvenes Monday, March 1.

This was revealed today by Dian R. Gardner, president of the local farm bureau, and R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary, who announced the end of many conferences with Senator Harry Westover, Representative Clyde Watson and Representative Clyde Kuchel.

All the bills that pertain to the welfare of the farm industry were discussed with the legislators during the last three weeks. Flaherty explained, "and these matters will be published at intervals during the next three weeks."

The farm officials pointed out that the local organization recently had announced a straightforward legislative program, headed by R. J. McFadden, chairman of the committee in charge, and that all the power of the entire group would be thrown behind the campaign to gain a varied type of accomplishment this year.

a representative of an eastern syndicate with resources of $1,500,000 had contacted him relative to a Newport harbor development program. Wood said that the representative of the eastern syndicate, while declining to reveal the names of his principals or outline the plan, said that his principals were in a position to invest $1,500,000 in development of a yacht harbor at the beach. He was referred to Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of commerce.

PROPER FROWNS ON SIT-DOWN STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper declared today that any sit-down strike that undertakes to take over private property is a very serious and fundamental thing and in his opinion will not be long endured by the courts.

Roper made the statement in reply to a press conference question as to his attitude toward sit-down strikes.

"This," he added, "is my personal answer. I am not speaking as an officer of the administration."

Roper was reluctant to discuss the sit-down technique.

His statement, however, represented virtually the only public comment that has been forthcoming from a cabinet officer on the subject.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, asked for her views on sit-down strikes during the General Motors strike, declined to express an opinion on their legality.

President Roosevelt has been silent on the topic.

Resume Railroad Quiz Next Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Chairman Burton K. Wheeler of the senate interstate commerce committee, announced today the investigation of railroad financing will be resumed next Tuesday.

Thomas W. Lamont and other partners of J. P. Morgan & company will be the principal witnesses, Wheeler said.

COMMITTEES FOR BOURBON VICTORY DINNER ARE NAMED

Appointment of members of the general committee and sub-committees in charge of arrangements for the Orange County Victory Dinner, to be sponsored by the Democratic Central Committee on the evening of March 4 were announced today by B. Z. McKinney, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee and general chairman of the dinner committee.

McKinney said today that the dinner will be held in the Masonic Temple as a part of the nation-wide tribute to President Roosevelt and Vice-President John N. Garner, commemorating completion of their first four years in office. Funds derived through the dinner will be used to pay off the deficit left over by the recent presidential campaign.

Committee members as announced by McKinney were:

Honorary Chairman, Horace C. Garden Grove committee—George H. Tobias, Dr. C. C. Violet, Mrs. C. C. Violet and C. Violet Head.

Westminster committee—Judge W. H. Bentley.

$500,000 LOVE SUIT DROPPED

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Blonde, blue-eyed Peggy Garcia's attempt to collect $500,000 for the love she said she gave David Rubinfeld, famed violinist, ended abruptly today when her attorney, prompted by the court, moved for and was granted a discontinuance of her breach of promise trial.

Supreme Court Justice Salvatore Cotillo, in granting the motion, gave the former chorine, dance hall entertainer and hat check girl something except money to think about when he remarked that "the records of this case will be turned over at once to the district attorney's office."

The district attorney's office was known to have interested itself earlier in possible extortion and perjury charges that might arise from the comely girl's suit against the violinist.

The peculiar ending of the case was in harmony with earlier procedure which included garbled and contradictory testimony and evidence concerning Miss Garcia's age and marriages. Those aspects of evidence reached a comedy climax in Roanoke, Va., last night when her attorney fled to New York behind a five and ten Santa Claus beard.

FRANCOIS MARCELL IN DEMONSTRATION

Francois Marcell, inventor of the marcel iron, gave a demonstration and was a guest yesterday at the Chicago College of Beauty. During his demonstration, he displayed his new permanent waving machine and a steel after-shampoo comb, both his inventions.

Mr. Marcell gave his first marcel in New York in 1895, and his first on the Pacific coast in San Francisco in 1898. He will return at a later date and will lecture to various beauty shops as well as the students of the school.

CONTRACT FOR ROAD OIL LET TO H. B. FIRM

Contracts for furnishing two of the three grades of road oil required by Orange county supervisors late yesterday to the M. M. McCallin Refining and Producing company, of Huntington Beach.

McCallin's bid of 95 cents per barrel on light oil (60-70), and $1.70 per barrel on medium oil (75-85) were the lowest received and were accepted by the supervisors.

Four bids on the heavy oil (90) were identical, these being from the Union, Richfield, Standard and Gilmore oil companies. The figures were $1.90. All bids on the heavy oil, therefore, were rejected.

In that connection, Supervisor N. E. West remarked that "if we are to be victimized by an understanding between so-called competitors, we might as well get our own refinery."

Safeguards in the contracts for road oil were discussed, to protect the county against defective oil, but no decisions were reached. Discussion touched upon the matter of taking regular samples of oil furnished. Highway Superintendent A. A. Beard stated that it would be necessary that a testing laboratory take such samples.

District Attorney Menton said samples should be taken in the presence of representatives of both buyer and seller.

The new road oil contracts succeeded the 1936 contract with the Eden Refining company, who recently brought suit against the county to cover $1728 held up by the county on the ground that defective road oil had been supplied.

Yesterday the supervisors authorized John Mitchell and Chairman Willard Smith, as a committee, to employ special counsel for the county to defend the Eden suit. District Attorney W. F. Menton informed the board that while his office was not disqualified to defend the county, for various reasons, including his connection with a grand jury probe of the oil, it would be embarrassing to act.

The county council was quoted as saying that "if the through traffic were routed away from the business district of Santa Ana, the city would stand to lose considerable money and would eventually become somewhat isolated. Other councilmen, informally, have indicated they believe it is to the best interests of the city to spend what money is to be spent on highway improvement, in the business area where Main street, Broadway, Flower street and Grand avenue can handle the traffic adequately."

"It was the opinion of those business men whom I contacted that Bristol street would be too remote from the business area," Brown declared. "They were very much opposed to such a program. It is obvious that restaurants, ice cream parlors and other such businesses would be harmed by such a program where those places already are located on main thoroughfares in the downtown area and are dependent upon through traffic, partially, for their income if not their existence."

Situation Detrimental Brown pointed out that persons knowing the situation as it is in Whittier and Pomona, where much of the through traffic is re-routed along the edges of those cities, have admitted such a situation is detrimental to Whittier and Pomona business men.

"Both Whittier and Pomona business men have been quoted as saying the sending of traffic along their cities' outskirts, has created an unfavorable situation," Brown added.

Proposal to send through traffic along the outer edge or edges of Santa Ana has been voiced to county planning commissioners and other county and city officials, it was pointed out.

Picketing began at approximately 85 other factories.

Issue at stake was the union's demand for an immediate 15 per cent wage increase. Manufacturers countered with an offer of an immediate 10 per cent increase and an additional 5 per cent in July, but this was rejected yesterday in a "rank-and-file" referendum of union members in Boston, Lynn, Newburyport, Salem, Beverly, Lowell, Hudson, Marlboro, Chelsea, Keene, N. H., Manchester, N. H., and Derry, N. H.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Sir Robert Craigie, assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, will sail for the United States on March 17 and may visit Washington to discuss naval questions of vital importance to both countries.

Craigie told friends today that the visit will be personal. Lady Craigie is the former Pleasant Stovall, daughter of the one time United States minister to Switzerland.

Since Sir Walter Runciman, prior to his recent visit to Washington, announced that the trip was private but then proceeded to discuss major issues with President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull and other high officials, diplomats here were sceptical regarding the assurance that Craigie's trip is entirely non-political.

CORY EXPLAINS SOIL SURVEY NOW UNDER WAY IN COUNTY

Survey of farm acreage and a careful crop check were in full swing today in Orange county, W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, announced today.

The work is being done, Cory explained, in order that the assistant farm advisor can arrive at a soil-depleting base and soil-conserving base for the county and for each farm in this area. The program was authorized by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

"On the completion of the surveys," Cory explained, "these bases can be established for each farm in the county. The soil-depleting base is defined as the total number of acres established for the farm as the acreage normally used for the production of soil-depleting crops. The soil-depleting crops are such crops as corn, potatoes, sugar beets, annual truck, canning and vegetable crops, melons, sorghums, small grains, field beans, root crops, annual cut flowers, peanuts and volunteer grains.

"The soil-conserving base is that number of acres obtained by subtracting the total soil depleting base from the total number of acres of crop land, excluding the acreage devoted to commercial orchards on Jan. 1, 1937.

"Among the soil-conserving crops are legumes, alfalfa, grasses, wheat, grasses, legume mixtures and other crops."

The information gained in the work will be utilized to carry on the 1937 agricultural conservation program. The provisions of the program, practices and rates of payment, will be announced in the near future.

OLYMPICS FILM IS SHOWN FOR 20-30

Forty-five members of the Santa Ana 20-30 club became sports-minded last night at their dinner meeting in Daniger's tea rooms as they were entertained by Lee Hanson, world traveler and former star track man at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Stanley Norton, president of the club, presided as Hanson presented a 40-minute motion picture show of the 1936 Olympics meet in Berlin. Hanson, who has taken motion pictures in many parts of the world, according to report of Jack Rimmel, club member, went to Europe with Bill Henry, Los Angeles sports writer, in 1936, and made the Olympics pictures.

Hanson, at present, is employed by the Helms bakery and presented the show under the bakery's auspices.

CHURCH HOLDS CONFIRMATION FOR BIG CLASS

A service of unique interest will be held tomorrow, Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, when a class of 14 candidates will be presented to the Right Reverend Bishop Stevens, Bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles, to receive the Rite of Confirmation at his hands.

This service held at irregular intervals has been associated with the Episcopal Church from apostolic times and has been one of the significant ceremonies of that church and the anglican communion—that is the earlier British church, since the first and second centuries after Christ, long before the influence of the Roman Church in England.

The service is one of singular beauty, characterized by that simplicity and dignity associated with the church and emphasizes the teachings contained in the Acts of the Apostles, the Eighth Chapter, where the early converts desiring to be strengthened by the gift of the Holy Spirit received the laying on of hands.

The service is open to the public. Following the service an informal reception will be held by the parishioners in the Parish Rooms, which will present an opportunity for them to meet their Bishop. Light refreshments will be served by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary.

SHEPPARD IS SENT OVER COURT ISSUE

Harry R. Sheppard, congressman from the 19th Congressional district, including Orange county, has declined to take a stand either for or against proposed supreme court reorganization, until the proposal is definitely introduced in congress.

In a communication today Sheppard said that never in the history of Capitol Hill has a measure aroused so much national interest as has the proposal to reform the federal judiciary. He said that thousands of letters have been received in his office expressing opinions on both sides of the question. So great has been the flood of letters and telegrams to his office that Congressman Sheppard and his office staff have been forced to work until 10 or 11 o'clock every night.

In a statement to The Register Sheppard said today: "I have refused to take a stand for or against the president's plan for the simple reason that no bill or legislation has been formally presented to congress.

"It is true that a general plan for reorganization of the judiciary was presented to congress in the president's message, however, when and if such legislation has cleared through our judiciary committee it may or may not reflect an entirely different picture.

"When actual legislation is presented I shall take the stand which I believe right and expect to explain that stand to my district.

"The question as I see it is not one, as so many have expressed themselves, of 'defending the constitution' but, rather, of defending an interpretation of the constitution. There are those who say that the only honest way of bringing about constitutional change is by amendment. Others realizing that an amendment can be prevented by 13 states, which contain less than a twentieth of the population, maintain that although an unimpeachable majority of the people may desire an amendment the same can be defeated by a small minority.

"I happen to be one of those members of congress who refuses to take snap judgment on an issue that has neither been formally drawn up in a bill nor formally presented to congress. When that time comes I shall study such legislation carefully and then vote as my conscience and best judgment direct me."

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

In II Corinthians St. Paul inspires us with the realization that on earth we build up the "inward man" who is beyond the decay and dissolution which come to the physical shell or tent in which the spirit dwells.

Regarding the condition of your body, that immortal part of you grows stronger day by day as you draw nearer to the Christ and drink in his spirit.

When you are through with your body you will leave it behind and pass on into that richer life with your dear ones who have gone before.

CONSOLIDATION OF REPORTS OF FARM GROUP COMMITTEES IN PROSPECT; PARLEY ENDS

Consolidation of all reports of four special committees, which gave serious deliberation for two days and evenings this week of all the vital problems of Orange county agriculture, was in prospect today following the close late yesterday afternoon of a two-day session of farm leaders and executives from this area and experts from the University of California.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg will call the session of the committees, which include John W. Crill, of Garden Grove, C. V. Outland, of Tustin, Ralph McFadden, of Placentia, and S. W. McCullough, of Fullerton.

After this conference, exact date of which is expected to be learned with the return late today of Wahlberg, who is attending a meeting of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange in Los Angeles, the material will be compiled and prepared for public distribution.

Then machinery will be set in motion for the carrying out of every detail of the many decisions that were made by the representative farm group in respect to the four vital matters that were considered and recommended for adoption.

These matters embrace marketing and credits; farm management, organization and labor; water and irrigation; and soils and crop adaptability.

One of the outstanding principles in the report that was presented by Crill to the group yesterday afternoon, was the recommendation of a policy of exercising care in the planting of additional citrus before investigating the present supply and demand of fruit. This was urged to avoid the breaking down of the standard of living of growers, producers and workers in the industry.

Crill's group also made the recommendation that packers discontinue the use of packing cleats, which, they declared, tended to distort oranges that were placed on the markets throughout the world, and lessened the attractiveness of the produce.

Immediate action will be taken in an effort in this county to have strict enforcement of the regulation that requires capping of flowing wells, and of those that will begin to flow soon as a result of the recent heavy rains. This is a conservation of water, and matters regarding irrigation practices were among the vital subjects before the group.

Wahlberg was chairman at the closing session, and he introduced the speakers and committee heads. Full and definite endorsement of Orange county's proposed $13,000,000 flood control program was given by the 50 farm executives and leaders.

Limitation of the sale of small farm units, was among the recommendations. It was pointed out that there was considerable need also for the supplement of farm activities on the small unit, in order to maintain those that are already established.

After the conference of the committees with Wahlberg, a definite course of action on the various matters will be outlined for all persons interested in the agricultural industry in this section of the state.

SPANISH VETS HOLD POT LUCK DINNER MEET

Calumit camp and its auxiliary, of the United Spanish War Veterans, gave its February potluck dinner and entertainment at the Knights of Columbus hall, last night to 80 members and friends of the organization, with entertainment following the 6:30 o'clock meal.

The Henry trio furnished music for the entertainment and was composed of W. A. Henry of Orange, as leader and J. O. Whedbee and J. E. James of Santa Ana, playing violin, guitar and piano.

Adjutant Charles E. Dixon, pinch-hitting for Commander Charles I. Reagan who had to leave after the dinner to attend the Disabled American Veterans' dance, acted as master of ceremonies at the entertainment.

After instrumental music by the trio, Edna Hewitt Smith, representing the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, gave two moving pictures: the first one being a silent picture portraying the invention of the microscope, the discovery of germs, pictures of microscopic germs of various sizes and shapes, the discovery of germs causing diseases, the discovery of the fact that germs could be destroyed by heat and by chemicals. This picture was entitled "Man Against Microbes"; the second was a sound picture called "Behind The Shadows" and it showed a doctor lecturing on tuberculosis and explaining by pictures of lungs as shown by x-rays and various stages of tuberculosis.

After the pictures a lecture was given explaining the need of combating this dread disease in our high schools.

Following the lecture, the Henry trio played old-time dance music while those who cared to dance enjoyed that kind of entertainment while others played pinocle and bridge.

The pictures displayed were secured by President Jean Tantlinger of Calumit auxiliary.

Breakfasters To Meet Here Tomorrow

Eddie Marble, program chairman for tomorrow morning's regular session of the Santa Ana Breakfast Club in the Main Cafeteria, announced today that an unusual entertainment feature would be presented.

Edward W. Cochems, president of the club, and Peter Busker, secretary, urged all members to attend and to bring guests.

Rapid progress was reported in the latest membership plan, which is under the supervision of Harold Mathews, one of the organization leaders.

FARM BUREAU CITRUS BOARD PLANS MEETING

Members of the board of Orange County Citrus department of the Farm Bureau headed by Jack Zinn, of La Habra, will meet at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the farm bureau hall here on North Main street to outline the 1937 program for the organization.

Dian R. Gardner, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, and R. D. Flaherty, secretary, said this morning that all eyes of growers in the section would be turned to this session with the anticipation that it will result in a definite future course for the division.

Organization problems will be discussed, and a complete program drafted. After the completion of this work, a detailed report will be presented to the board of directors of the farm bureau, which meets in regular session at the hall next Thursday.

Zinn has told farm officials here that he has urged a complete attendance of the board of the department, and that they be prepared to make suggestions that will build a comprehensive plan of action for the future.

SODIUM LIGHTS FOR COAST HIGHWAY SOUGHT BY COUNTY C. OF C. FROM COMMISSION

The state highway commission was requested to use the strip of state highway between San Clemente and Huntington Beach as a testing place for the sodium lighting system by a unanimous vote of the directors of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce last night at the February meeting, held at the Yorba Linda Woman's clubhouse.

The request for use of the Orange county road came through the road department, on recommendation of George Kellogg, chairman, who pointed out the points in favor of such lighting and also included in the resolution the reasons the highway commission should use the Orange county highway for a field of experimentation.

The lights cost an amber glow, and are shadowless, and are being tried at present on the approaches to the San Francisco Bay bridge. According to Kellogg, the hazard of night driving is increased materially by the shadow lights, and the experiment on this particular strip of highway would incorporate about all kinds of handicaps, including the crooked roads, and the foggy weather.

More than 85 attended the meeting. Principal speakers were Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuchel, assemblymen to the state legislature from Orange county, and Franklin Lowney, representing the California Safety Council.

George Raymer was program chairman. Dr. C. G. Huston, president, announced the names of the nominating committee that will report at the March meeting at Santa Ana as E. B. Sharpley of Santa Ana, Victor Lely of Anaheim, H. H. Hale of Placentia, Leslie Kimmel of Laguna Beach, and William Gallienne of Huntington Beach.

Lowney asked that the Chamber of Commerce recommend a plan for the establishment of a scientific safety program incorporating use of safety engineering bureaus of a state wide, and a city, county or regional capacity.

After the discussions by the assemblymen, the directors went on record as opposing assembly bills numbers 1656 and 1657 that would preclude use of tax monies for advertising purposes. This was on recommendation of V. D. Johnson, advertising committee chairman.

Assemblyman Watson discussed the bills of interest to Orange county, and suggested that what some legislators call liberal is most radical in scope. Assemblyman Kuchel discussed the education measures in the assembly, and also suggested that the radical group is attempting much that may not be wise in legislation. He said the severance tax is one radical measure he is opposing, since if "such a law can be applied to oils, it might also be applied to oranges and lemons."

R. D. Flaherty, secretary manager of the Farm Bureau, told of the meeting at Santa Ana.

BUICK RESUMES PRODUCTION AS STRIKE CEASES

The Buick Division of General Motors resumed output of automobiles Wednesday, February 17 and was expected to be in full production shortly thereafter according to word received today by W. R. Gordon of the Reid Motor Co., Buick dealer here, from Harlow H. Curtice, Buick president.

After 45 days of idleness as a result of the automobile strike, the wheels of the great industry are beginning to move again and cars will be rolling off the assembly lines in greater numbers than ever before.

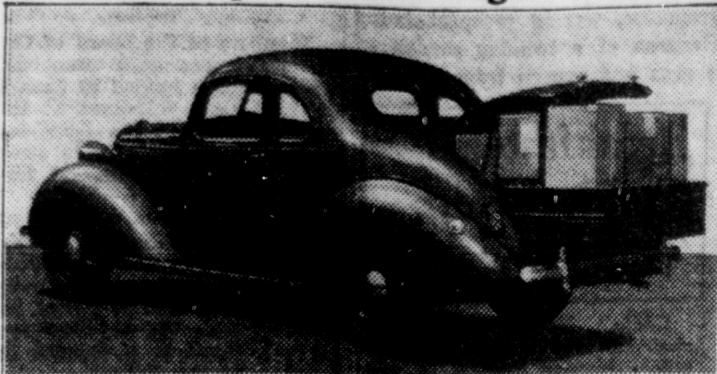

"Mr. Curtice told me we will begin getting cars just as fast as it is possible for the factory to produce and ship them," Mr. Gordon said. "Buick suffered by the strike through no fault of its own or of its workmen. There never was a strike or threat of strike in the plants of the Buick division.

Cessation of manufacture of cars was forced when the supply of bodies was stopped. As a result, nearly a month and a half of work was lost by the Buick Motor division which in turn has resulted in a shortage of cars in the hands of Buick dealers.

"The factory executive said that every effort will be made to make up for lost time and to get cars into the hands of dealers and customers.

"Many customers are waiting for the new Buick cars. Many placed orders and have been willing to wait for delivery of their cars until after settlement of the strike and the resumption of production. This is true not only here in Santa

New Coupe Also Is Light Truck

The latest innovation in light trucks, for commercial use, is this Utility Coupe Pick-Up which is being introduced as part of the new line of Terraplane Commercial Cars. The new car is changed from passenger to business car by a sliding steel pick-up box, which offers a surprisingly large amount of loading space. The picture shows the new Utility Coupe with pick-up box extended to its full length (it can be pulled out to any one of three positions). The steel box, which is mounted on rubber covered metal rollers, is 49½ inches long, 38 inches wide, 11½ inches deep and has a loading height of 32 inches under the rear deck door. This door may be removed. In announcing the new model, the company stated that a survey of many lines of business revealed that this type of car is amazingly well suited to the needs of many businesses.

Ana, where we have a large number of retail orders on the books, but in every other dealership in the country.

"In this respect the loyalty of our Buick customers has been strongly demonstrated during this strike period and it is deeply appreciated. The thanks of the dealers and of the factory are due those who, notwithstanding the uncertainty placed their orders for Buicks and were willing to wait for delivery.

"Mr. Curtice told me this loyalty and patience will be rewarded by the speediest possible delivery of this strike period and it is deeply appreciated. The thanks of the dealers and of the factory are due those who, notwithstanding the uncertainty placed their orders for Buicks and were willing to wait for delivery.

"During March it is expected that Buick output will be at full capacity and will continue at this rate during the spring months.

"The popularity of the 1937 cars and the strong demand for them is indicated by the fact that Buick will enter March with the largest bank of orders in its history, exceeding the buying rush experienced soon after the announcement of the new cars last fall."

Mate Leaves Wife $1 To Get Poison

WORCESTER, Mass. (UP)—In his will Andrew Kozak, a barber, left his wife "more than $1, to buy herself some poison."

The will was drawn last June, after Kozak and his wife had separated. He left most of his $6000 estate to his 13-year-old son.

"And for my wife I am leaving a business that is worth more than $1 so she can buy herself some poison so she will die," the will read.

CHEAP TRAVEL MADE POSSIBLE

The latest addition to cheaper transportation for workingmen and people generally who are interested in low first cost and low upkeep, has just been announced by the Indian Motorcycle company, makers of the New Indian Junior Scout motorcycle, and manufacturers of motorcycles for 35 years.

It is stated by Jud Carriker, who is Orange county distributor for Indian motorcycles, that this is the machine that dealers have hoped for for a long time, due to the fact that the supply of used machines has become depleted during the last few years, and that there has not been available heretofore a new machine manufactured with low first cost and low operation which could supply the demand of that type of buyers who must have cheap transportation, procurable at a price they could afford.

Mr. Carriker declares this machine will be the means of greatly increasing the popularity of motorcycles, and that its easy starting, easy handling, and general safety are certain to influence the motorcycle sentiment of a large class of buyers.

The pineapple consists of flowers that originally were separate but which have consolidated into one solid, fleshy mass.

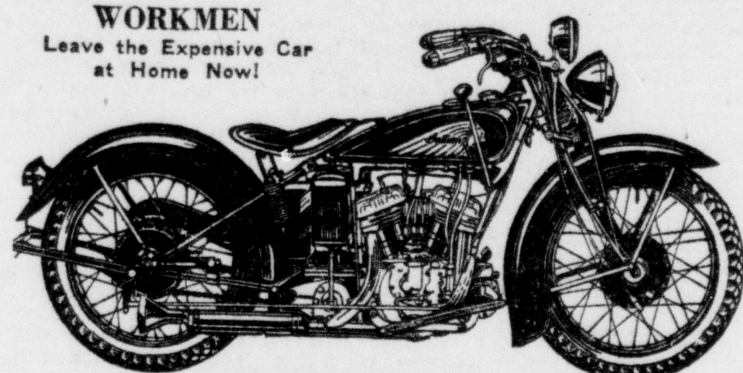

THE NEW INDIAN Junior Scout Twin Motorcycle Has Been Made Five Years. Not Experimental.

Now at a New Lower Price. Cheap Transportation at Last—With Low First Cost.

- First Grade INDIAN Quality. Not a toy.
- A Complete Motorcycle, Ready to Ride.
- Not a Motorized Bicycle. Lowest upkeep. Built to Last.
- Easy to Start. Safer to Handle. Easy to ride.

"Everybody's Talking About This NEW Way to Drive!"

Mr. and Mrs. Motorist, more than 100,000 Hudson and Terraplane owners have already driven over a billion miles without a gear shift lever ... and they'll never go back to the old way.

You'll like it, too ... and we have arranged for you to try it ... in a new Hudson or Terraplane with Selective Automatic Shift. Change gears with a flick of a finger at the steering wheel and a lift of a toe from the accelerator. No need to touch the clutch pedal. It's the new, safer, magically easier way to drive ... but nothing new to learn.

There's a car waiting for you. Come in and discover many other reasons why the new Hudson and Terraplane are the No. 1 Cars of 1937.

Selective Automatic Shift optional at small extra cost on all 1937 Hudsons and Terraplanes.

SURVEY SHOWS WOMEN FAVOR CHRYSLER CAR

Chrysler's appeal to the feminine motorist is strikingly illustrated in a recent tabulation of sales according to occupations of purchasers. This report showed that 6.9 per cent of this company's cars were bought by "housewives." Under this heading come all women not otherwise employed. In many cases the car was paid for by the husband, but the choice unquestionably was made by the woman herself.

Chrysler engineer and designers are in this way, large percentage of cars sold to women the vindication of their old-established policy of catering to the motoring needs of the fair sex. Chrysler has been foremost in making cars easier to drive, safer and more comfortable for women. Soft but positive brake action, easy gear shifting, easy clutch action, easy finger-tip steering, and a short turning radius are among the Chrysler features contributing to ease of handling. Adjustable driver's seats, clear vision, chair height seats, draftless ventilation, and ample roominess are leading factors in comfort. As for safety, Chrysler's all-steel body, hydraulic brakes, low center of gravity, and perfect balance have combined to endear the car to women as a thoroughly safe vehicle.

Salesmen are the largest purchasers of Chrysler cars, according to vocational survey quoted. This survey covers the first nine months of 1936, which means that it gives a cross section of the important buying seasons. The men who make their living by selling are largely dependent on reliable and economical transportation. That is why 10.6 per cent of the Chrysler sold in the period under consideration went to this class of men. Housewives ranked next. Third came merchants, who bought 6.4 per cent of the Chryslers. Managers were next with 5.6 per cent. Persons listed as "retired" ranked fifth with 4.6 per cent. Under this classification came a large number of men and women who have acquired a competence and want to enjoy the best that life affords. That so many of them selected Chrysler is an indication that luxury, the keynote of this company's recent models, is making a strong appeal. Doctors, those busy fellows who demand the most exacting service

Types 122 Words A Minute Riding In Automobile

Chester Soucek, world's fastest amateur typist, blazed through another amazing speed record, when he batted out text at the rate of 122 words a minute while traveling 40 miles an hour in an automobile. The action photo above shows Soucek racing the typewriter keys while riding in a 1937 Dodge sedan. J. A. Johnson, typewriter company official, acts as timekeeper in the remarkable performance.

In the opinion of automobile men, the vibrationless gait of the car undoubtedly contributed its share to the success of the dramatic demonstration of Soucek's uncanny digital dexterity.

exposed to water. Short circuiting is more frequent, with resulting failure of the car to start.

"Weak, worn-out spark plugs are also more susceptible to the effects of dampness. A new, powerful plug, augmented by efficient, weather-proof wiring, can usually be depended upon to supply the necessary spark even under the worst conditions.

"Of course, a car left standing in the rain may accumulate so much water around the plugs that it can only be started by drying out, but even in these cases, the 'cure' is much quicker if the equipment is in perfect shape. Incidentally, protective hoods and boots for wiring and distributors prevent this type of failure."

"Double-Check" spark plug has proved its worth during the heavy rain, Mr. Rosenfeld announced. This and other ignition necessities are among the week's specials at the local Pep Boys store, 211 N. Main street.

Commercial airline operations carried 1,020,931 passengers in 1936, an increase of 37 per cent over 1935. The airlines flew 63,777,326 miles, and carried 6,938,777 pound of express, which represents new records.

IGNITION MUST BE PROTECTED, SAY PEP BOYS

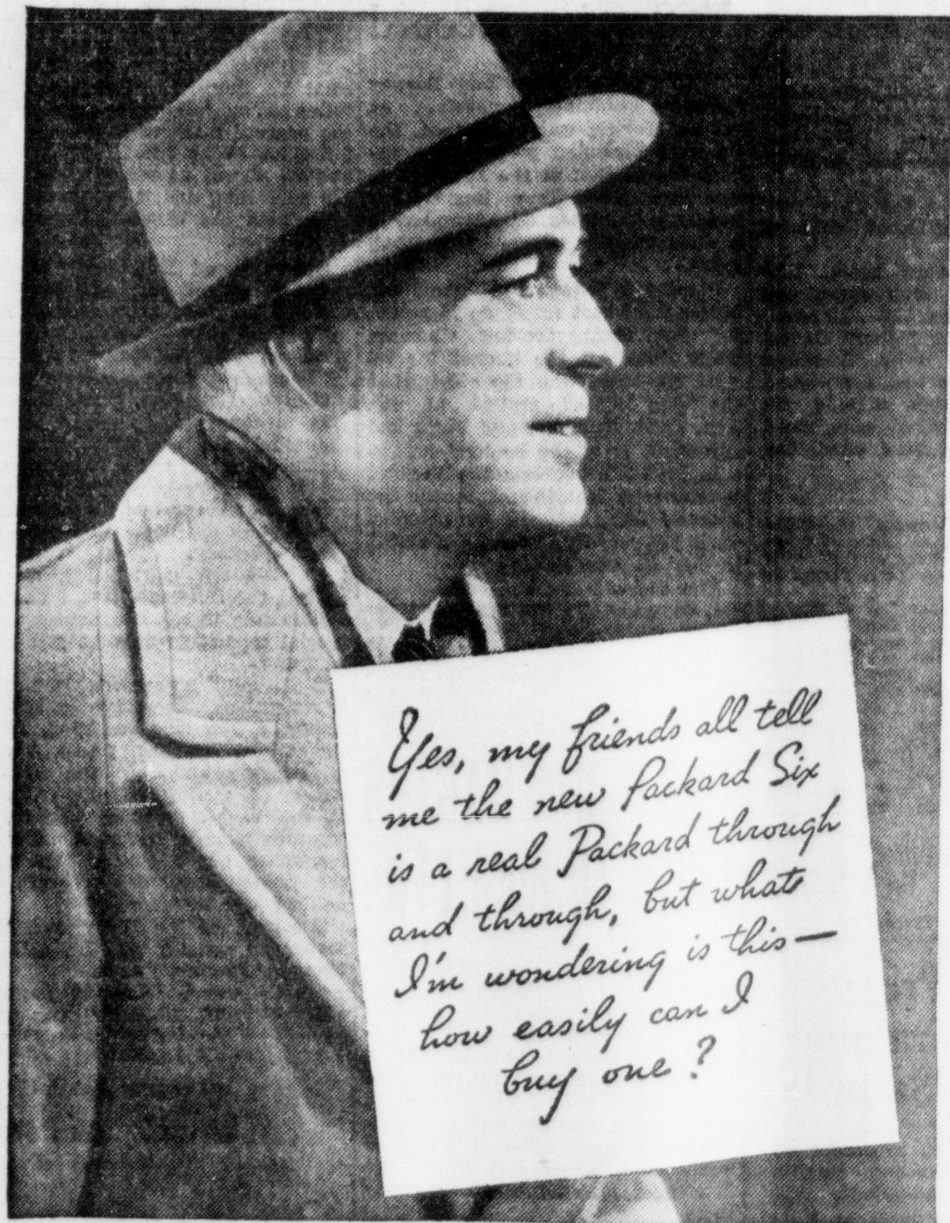

While Southern California was recovering this week from the effects of its worst storm of the year, thousands of motorists were preparing to prevent recurrence of ignition troubles due to rainy weather, according to Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of The Pep Boys of California.

"Many a car that was put out of commission by the rain would have been in service constantly if the vital points of the ignition system had been properly watched over," Mr. Rosenfeld declared. "The heavy demand for new wiring, new spark plugs and similar accessories indicates what was the essential failure in stalled cars."

"Old and faulty wiring, with deficient insulation, is often affected by long continued dampness, even when not actually and directly

KIWANIS CLUB SEES OLYMPIC GAMES MOVIES

Santa Ana Kiwanians today sat in the cheering sections and rooted for athletic heroes of the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin when they were presented with moving pictures of the entire impressive world-wide classic, last year, by Mrs. H. Lee Hanson, wife of the man who took the pictures at the games. It was the main feature on the program at the regular luncheon session at the Masonic Temple.

The meeting was presided over by R. B. Newcom, president, who turned the program over to W. B. Moore, Jr., who in turn presented Mrs. Hanson.

Emphasizing the fact that Southern California men and women played an important role in the 1936 games, Mrs. Hanson made the pictures intensely interesting with running comment on the various scenes and events.

It was a colorful presentation, and the club members were thrilled by the sight of the huge Zeppelin that passed over the stadium before the opening of the games, and the lighting of the torch in keeping with the almost ancient tradition.

The many American men and women who participated in the various events all were pictured in action in real competition and otherwise.

Mrs. Hanson explained that Hitler did not slight Jesse Owens, but was absent when the runner finished the 100-meter dash, and later honored him accordingly as an outstanding figure of the games.

She also pointed out that the American flag was not dipped as the athletes marched past the committee section of the stadium, saying that "as it is well known, the American flag is never dipped anywhere nor to anyone any place." The comment and the sight of the flag standing erect brought much applause from the local audience.

WATER COMMITTEE PERSONNEL NAMED

Personnel of the county-wide water committee named by the board of supervisors to make a study of underground water and its regulation was completed late yesterday with the appointment of two members-at-large, Arthur J. McFadden, of Santa Ana, and Walter Humphreys, Fullerton engineer. Both are recognized water authorities.

Other members of the committee, previously named by the board, are Dian R. Gardner, Orange, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau; J. J. Dwyer, of Anaheim; W. W. Hoy, Santa Ana engineer; Charles Smith, of Tustin, and Wayne Holt, of Garden Grove.

A. J. McFadden is one of the leading agriculturists of California.

Court Notes

Earl Crawford of Huntington Beach, who sued his fellow townsman, Sam L. Terry, for $10,500 damages after an automobile collision at Clay and Main streets last September 1, was awarded $507 yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

Trial of the $5300 damage suit brought against the Fox West Coast theaters by Mrs. Ellen B. MacKenzie, who claimed to have been injured in a fall in the West Coast theater, Santa Ana, April 7, 1935, was resumed today before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel after a weekend recess.

The late Rebecca Fraser of Santa Ana, who died February 7, left an estate "not exceeding $10,000" to her four children, it was shown today when a petition to probate the will was filed in superior court by a son, James P. Fraser, of Anaheim. The other three heirs are Fred Fraser, Santa Ana; Sophia Boxwell, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, and Eva Cheney, of Tustin.

The late Mrs. Lillian N. Roy, who died February 16, left an estate "in excess of $10,000" according to a petition filed in superior court today by her daughter, Josephine B. Roy, asking letters of administration. Miss Roy and two daughters, Elizabeth R. Aune, R. D. 1, Santa Ana, and Margaret R. Hield, of Pomona, are the heirs.

WOMAN'S CLUB CHORUS TO PRESENT FOURTH OPERA

ORANGE, Feb. 24.—Presenting the fourth opera to be given by the group, members of the Woman's club chorus are preparing to give the most pretentious production of the group, "The Bartered Bride," at the Orange Union high school auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The first dress rehearsal will be held tonight. A feature of the opera will be music by Leland Auer's orchestra. Auer is director of the chorus and Mrs. Benjamin J. Brubaker is director of drama for the production.

Colorful costumes and lighting effects will be used tonight. Other operas presented by the group were "The Mikado," "Martha" and "Lola Vala."

The club chorus was organized a number of years ago with Mrs. Leon DeLarzas as the director. Mrs. Ross Taylor is president. Those taking part in the opera who are chorus members are Mesdames C. C. Bonebrake, Chester Taylor, Walter F. Kogler, Ross Taylor, LeRoy Bell, Raymond Brown, Betty Eisenbaum, Jess Coe, A. W. Fullerton, O. K. Dean, Frank Collins and they are to be assisted by Miss Dorothy Coe, Mrs. Russell Crouse and Mrs. Mary Barnett of Santa Ana. Women having principal roles include Sallie Coe Mueller, Mrs. W. O. Hart and Miss Maryesther Wood.

On complaint to city police by Mrs. W. H. Nye, 1416 West Third, a local youth was reprimanded for using a BB-gun to shoot a hole through the window of the Nye home. The youth's father said the act would not be repeated.

Hinton Rouse, 34, transient, and Roy Armstrong, 512 East Second, were arrested near the 600-block, East Fourth street, yesterday, by Officers Harry Prichard and Paul Cozad after it was reported they were "mooching" for money. Rouse was charged with vagrancy and Armstrong, with being drunk.

Zena Leck, Laguna Beach, informed city police that someone stole her $10 Cyma-make, silver watch, from a dressing room here, yesterday afternoon.

Arrested on a bench warrant charging he failed to finish paying a fine owing since 1931 when he was convicted of possessing illegal liquor, Atenojenes Castro, 37, 1026 Logan street, was ordered by City Judge J. G. Mitchell to work out the sum owing.

Mrs. Elmer Fowler saw a prowler outside of the window of her home, 1242 South Garney, last night, she reported to city police. Fowler gave chase but the man escaped, police were informed.

"Lagging" for pennies at Fourth and Sycamore streets last night, five boys ranging in age from 14 to 16, were haled into police headquarters for questioning. One of the group had been warned three times. Parents were informed if the gambling didn't stop at Fourth and Sycamore, the boys would be prosecuted. The boys sell Los Angeles newspapers.

Flake Smith, assistant postmaster, asked city police to investigate the man who tendered a counterfeit $5 bill at the post office yesterday afternoon in payment for stamps. Officer Charles Neer, investigating, found Robert Jackson, 609 1/2 South Ross, Jackson explained his uncle, H. F. Jackson, 2454 North Park boulevard, had given him the bill in payment for work. The uncle believed he had taken in the counterfeit bill while collecting in the Corona district recently. Robert and his uncle were exonerated and the bill was impounded by the police.

After he pleaded guilty to a charge he failed to support his family, Richard C. Johnson, El Centro, who was returned here by deputy sheriffs, was given a one-year county jail term by Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today. The sentence was suspended for two years under the proviso Johnson pay $7.50 weekly toward support of the family.

Kenneth Thompson, 25, Santa Monica, was jailed by Brea police yesterday on a drunk driving charge, to begin serving a 75-day sentence.

Walter Lyon, 21, Long Beach, was booked at county jail yesterday afternoon by Seal Beach police and charged with failure to support his minor child.

Lee Bach, 29, Placentia, was booked at county jail on a battery complaint last night. He was arrested by Placentia officers.

Auburn J. Wilson, 35, 626 North Ross, Santa Ana, was jailed by Orange police early today and charged with drunk driving.

Accused of violating quarantine.

The sentence was suspended for two years under the proviso Johnson pay $7.50 weekly toward support of the family.

Kenneth Thompson, 25, Santa Monica, was jailed by Brea police yesterday on a drunk driving charge, to begin serving a 75-day sentence.

Walter Lyon, 21, Long Beach, was booked at county jail yesterday afternoon by Seal Beach police and charged with failure to support his minor child.

Lee Bach, 29, Placentia, was booked at county jail on a battery complaint last night. He was arrested by Placentia officers.

Auburn J. Wilson, 35, 626 North Ross, Santa Ana, was jailed by Orange police early today and charged with drunk driving.

Accused of violating quarantine.

OPPOSE RETURN OF GEO. MALONE TO WASHINGTON

A suggestion by Chairman Willard Smith that the county supervisors authorize return of George W. Malone, consulting engineer, to Washington to aid in getting favorable government action on the Orange county flood control project of the U. S. army engineers, was opposed by two members of the board yesterday, but no decision was reached.

Congressman Harry Sheppard recently wrote the board asking Malone's aid in the flood control and harbor projects, saying technical advice was needed and that Malone stands high in Washington. Chairman Smith told the board yesterday that he expected a call soon from Sheppard and the army engineers, saying action was imminent. He proposed sending Malone East.

Supervisor Steel Finley said he didn't think Malone's presence there was necessary. Supervisor N. E. West remarked that Major Theodore Wyman Jr., in charge of the army engineers headquarters in Los Angeles, had informed him there was nothing that Malone could do to aid the flood project.

HULL'S PEACE PLAN LAUDED IN LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Walter Runciman, chairman of the board of trade, in a luncheon address today lauded Secretary of State Cordell Hull's policy of promoting world peace through the free exchange of commodities.

Runciman referred to his recent visit to the United States, where he was a White House guest. In his talk to the National Liberal club at a luncheon in his honor he praised "that most courageous president, President Roosevelt." On the world trade outlook, he said: "The time is rapidly coming when we shall be able to say to the secretary of state of the United States, Mr. Cordell Hull: 'We believe that your doctrine of peace through free trade is a sound one. We agree with you that the best thing the world can have is free exchange of commodities and services.'"

GUNNERS FIGHT OFF LOYALISTS

MADRID, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Rebel machine gunners mowed down wave after wave of advancing loyalist militiamen today in their battle for possession of Mt. Pingarron, Spain's "Bunker Hill" south of Madrid.

The rebels and loyalists both laid down a constant artillery onslaught around the heights. The hill, 17 miles south of the besieged capital, commands the vital Valencia highway linking the city with the sea.

Morata De La Tajuna, just to the east, remained under heavy rebel shell fire. The highway zone remained the front where heaviest fighting is going on in the Loyalists' effort to save Madrid, with fighting at the Pingarron heights continuing through the night unabated.

VALENCIA, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Five officers and men of the British battleship Royal Oak were wounded when a projectile struck the quarterdeck during the rebel air bombardment of Valencia at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, an official announcement said today.

Those wounded, the announcement said, were the captain, a commander, a first lieutenant, a warrant officer and a sailor.

DISTURBED AT NIGHT?

THE kidneys work day and night in removing waste material. A diuretic stimulant like Dr. Pierce's A-nuric is often indicated and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney irregularities. These A-nuric Tablets which are sold by druggists help to relieve the burning and soreness, and the desire for frequent urination caused by or associated with excess food and they tend to ease the flow of urine. Read what Frank Buchanan of 1125 W. 57th St., Seattle, Wash., said: "My kidneys acted too freely and frequently arising disturbed my rest at night. My kidneys didn't function so freely after using Dr. Pierce's A-nuric and I felt better in every way." Write for free medical advice to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't Irritate Gas Bloating

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the stomach and upper intestine and is due to old gas and matter in the congested bowels that are loaded with ill-causing bacteria. If your constitution is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset. GAS often causes heart and lungs, making life miserable. You can eat sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and pimply. Your breath is foul. You are a sick, groggy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED. Thousands of sufferers have found in Adlerika the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Adlerika rid you of gas and clear foul poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Your bowels are a REAL cleansing with Adlerika. Rid of GAS. Adlerika does not gripe— it just habit forming.

NO CHANGE IN ESTIMATE OF FRUIT DAMAGE

Discussing citrus marketing problems before the annual citrus institute at San Bernardino yesterday, Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange reported little change in earlier estimates of fruit loss in the January freeze. The government estimate checks very closely with the preliminary survey made by the exchange, he said.

"There is a limited area in the world where citrus can be successfully grown and such areas are constantly exposed to frost," said Armstrong, recalling that in 1933 Florida had a serious freeze. He pointed out that the year's marketing situation had been vastly changed by the freeze.

"We must salvage all fruit possible under the standardization law and at the same time remember that this law was recommended by the industry which should uphold effective enforcement of it," Armstrong stated.

We cannot compete with Florida on a price basis, so must compete in quality, he said, in stressing the importance of delivering fruit that gives consumer satisfaction.

By-products can salvage considerable value from damaged fruit, he said. Navel is unsalable at present only for peel products—oil and pectin. It remains to be seen how much can be recovered in the way of juice products from damaged valencias.

At the present time the shorter supply of navels enables Florida and Texas to penetrate on a price basis into markets normally California's, according to Armstrong. "It will take effort to win these markets back another season, but it can and will be done," he said.

"A frost year is always difficult for everybody," Armstrong said, "but we must conduct operations to get the maximum returns for the reduced crop and also keep out trade relations and consumer demand in good shape for the future."

WHEELER, WOOLSEY AT STATE TONIGHT

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey excavating laughs in an Egyptian locale, in "Mummy's Boys," and "Along Came Love," a comedy-romance featuring Irene Hervey and Charles Starrett, will be shown together at the houbie feature program starting Wednesday matinee at the State theater.

In "Mummy's Boys," Wheeler and Woolsey engage in a riot of murder, mystery and romance amid the tombs of Egypt, helping a scientist and his pretty daughter to escape from the curse of the tomb, only to become the object of the murderer's belief of the "curse of the tombs" as a blind for his own dirty work. The two comedians are supported by Moroni Olsen, Frank M. Thomas and Willie Best.

"Along Came Love," the delightful romance of a shopgirl and a medical student, was written by the author of "Seventh Heaven," the moving picture which set an all-time high as cinema entertainment several seasons ago. The cast includes Irene Hervey and Charles Starrett in the leading roles; Doris Kenyon, H. B. Warner and Irene Franklin in supporting parts. The picture was directed by Bert Lytell, former star of the silent days.

"Johnnies" Go As Stage Door Pest

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

LOSE FAT THE EASY WAY—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding the gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today, from your druggist.

CHAPTER I

THE June sun struck his shoulders with pleasant warmth as he parted the brush, bridged a wide ditch easily and emerged on the open backwoods road.

He squinted eyes a trifle deeper but of the same clear blue as the sky above him. And squinting, his tanned face broke into little crinkles around his eyes and into unaccustomed furrows on a broad brow that was lighter where the line of his hair began. He thrust his hands into breeches pockets, squared his shoulders and swung into a brisk stride.

Over his shoulder he addressed his companion: "Getting on toward lunch." He was agreed with, he gathered, by the enthusiastic tail wagging at the heels of his riding boots.

"Now, my good fellow," he continued, having an appreciative audience, "if this were the New England of legend, we would approach the next dwelling with a pleasant smile and a hungry look and be invited to join the family at its noonday meal. As it is, we've got to find our way out of this maze of backwoods and push on to our host's."

He glanced at his watch, saw that it was 20 minutes past noon. Then he saw the spreading gables of the gray house through a frame of trees and whistled softly to himself.

It brought a light to his eyes—this picture of majestic chimneys that rose to the tops of aged trees, the grace of dwelling and grounds mellowing together and growing into each other, the overtones of bright pinks and yellows, the blues obscured against the glowing fresh greens of the garden, colors that were like bright ribbons on a lady's gray gown.

There was, as he had expected, a wall of field stone high. He swung himself onto it.

"It's ha' past twelve, Miss Daphne," a strident voice from within the house echoed. "What-cha want for lunch?"

Daphne Brett pushed back a strand of black curly hair from a white and perspiring brow and sat back on her heels.

"If you've brought eggs, there'll be scrambled eggs, bread and butter and fruit. I didn't bring anything else from town," she called from the top of the stair well. Then, anxiously:

"PRUNELLA, have a look at how the garden's coming, will you?"

"Yes, ma'am." Prunella answered cheerfully. "Just stop worryin' about this downstairs. I got things most ready. Sure you don't want me to give you a hand up there?"

Daphne rubbed the spot in her back that was beginning to burn and said, "No, thanks, I'll be finished here by three. They won't be here until four."

"My sakes, but it'll seem strange to have anybody but Brett's livin' in this house," the conversational voice continued from below.

"You're telling me!" Daphne Brett muttered and gave her mop a vicious squeeze.

"We allus hoped you'd be comin' back to Plantsport when Jennifer was graduated from that finishin' school," Prunella carried on. "We will some day soon."

"Hello," he said before she could ask him what he wanted. "Will you please tell me who owns this place?" "It's owned by the Misses Brett," she said shortly.

Daphne answered with a cheerfulness she didn't feel. Her disappointment filled her unhappily again. She, too, had hoped that the two of them would be back here. Five years away from the home she loved hadn't changed her affection and longing for it.

Five crowded, busy years in New York. Five years hoping for this very month until Jennifer's letter had come saying that she was going on to Maine to spend the summer with a schoolmate and could Daphne send her an extra hundred?

"Hi!"

Prunella straightened and her eyes followed the hailing voice to the figure seated on the back garden wall. Another tramp, she thought, and took another look. She retreated hastily and called:

"Miss Daphne, one of 'em's come. He's out back."

The company she was waiting for would hardly be "out back," Daphne thought, and stole a hurried glance out the south window, saw the dusty figure on her garden wall and knew it to be not the rotund Mr. Snyder she had already met. Without removing the unflattering towel that bound her hair, or the grimy effects of her morning's work, oblivious to the shapelessness of her slender figure enveloped in one of Prunella's pink gingham models, she went into the garden.

Brett, she said shortly.

He didn't look at her; plainly his eyes were all for Brett Hall.

"I'd like to see the interior," he said. "Also I'd like to have a bit of lunch. Do you think the Misses Brett are hospitably inclined?"

"There's nothing but scrambled eggs," Daphne said, her eyes once more on her watch. There was so much to be done in so short a time. She had no time to exchange pleasantries with stray travelers of the road, but this one looked strong. Perhaps he . . .

He let himself down from the wall before she said anything further and, with his eyes still on the house, he said, "Thanks, and what might your name be, my pretty maid?"

"THEY call me Daffy," she said crisply, and picked up her broom. "You might earn that lunch by tackling the weeds in the west garden. This place has got to look like a well-kept garden by 3 o'clock. Prunella will give you your lunch in the kitchen."

"Fair enough," he said, and tucked his pipe into a pocket of the coat he discarded at once.

Daphne forgot him. There were many things to be done. There were the bowls to fill with flowers and Daphne herself to transform from a scullery maid into a cool, charming hostess in a smart frock to give the appearance of a gentleman's family estate for the summer.

"But we want to leave it for a year!" Mrs. Snyder said.

A year at a hundred a month!

"GIRL FROM PARIS" AT WALKER'S TODAY

The renowned prima donna, Lily Pons, discovers that love is far more valuable to happiness than the fruits of fame as a singing star in "That Girl From Paris," her new sparkling film starring Jack Oakie and Gene Raymond.

Opening at Walker's new theater, tonight, "That Girl From Paris" is a gay film musical offering one of the widest varieties of melodic entertainment ever recorded for a photoplay. Miss Pons sings three "hot" numbers by Arthur Schwartz; a modern interpretation of "The Blue Danube Waltz," "Tarantella" and "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville." Jack Oakie sings an original and a "swing" band plays another.

"That Girl From Paris" is the story of a little French diva, who sheds her mantle of operatic fame and pursues romance incognito. She follows a handsome orchestra leader across the ocean to America where she runs into a series of harrowing adventures with the police, the press and a small army of suitors.

The second feature on the program, "The Plot Thickens," featuring James Gleason and Zasu Pitts, as the noted detective, Inspector Oscar Piper and his assistant, Hildgarde Withers, is a hilarious mystery-comedy with the heart interest being supplied by Owen Davis Jr., and Louise Latimer. The young couple find themselves accidentally involved in a murder thus adding to the baffling list of suspects.

This double feature program will run for three days and as usual on Friday evening, in addition to the regular bill, Walker's will present eight or more acts of amateur vaudeville.

JAYSEE DEBATE TEAM VICTOR

Drawing closer to the Eastern conference debating championship, Santa Ana junior college's negative team defeated Pomona Jaysee's affirmative speakers here yesterday afternoon.

The question was: "Resolved, that congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry."

Representing the triumphant local debaters were Anne Pellegrini and Gordon Bishop. The Pomona Jaysee team was composed of Ruth Thomas and Ralph Freeland. W. Theron Ashby, Whittier college debate coach, acted as judge.

The victory placed Santa Ana in the championship running again with a record of three wins and one loss. Last year's Don debater finished in a three-way tie for first place honors.

S. A. MAN AND WIFE TO WED THIRD TIME

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

When the Santa Fe "Scout" arrives in Los Angeles next Saturday morning, many of the passengers may not be aware that Dan Cupid will be riding in the engineer's cab. But when Edwin A. Brennan of 510 Cypress avenue goes to the city that day to meet the train, he is quite well aware that the Scout will be guided by the little god of love. For on it will be riding his bride, Mrs. G. E. Hamilton of Fort Mead, Iowa.

The circumstances of this reunion and the wedding that will follow so shortly after arrival of Mrs. Brennan are more than usually interesting, and all friends of Mr. Brennan are offering their congratulations upon his wedding plans. For when Mrs. Hamilton and Edwin A. Brennan take their wedding vows this time it will be a repetition of similar vows which they took more than 20 years ago.

In fact it will actually be their third ceremony, for the first wedding was a civil one, and later the couple repeated their vows before a minister of the Episcopal church to which the bride belonged. But matters failed to run smoothly in the home and after 14 years of marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Brennan "agreed to disagree" and were divorced in Chicago, their former home. Mrs. Brennan resumed the name of Mrs. Hamilton, that of her first husband, and returned to Fort Mead where she has lived for the intervening 13 years.

Mr. Brennan came to California, and for the past few years has had charge of a parking station near the Rosemead hotel. At present he is engaged in surveying from an Orange engineer's office. At Christmas and again at New Year's, he and his former wife exchanged the season's greetings, and of course letters followed, with the romantic result that Mrs. Hamilton is now speeding California towards orange blossoms and a "little gray home in the west."

"We have both learned enough in the 13 years of our separation, to insure the success of a home and future together," today declared Brennan. "I am not making any arrangements about that home until her arrival, for there will be a three days' wait until we can secure the license and have our wedding."

It is probable that Mrs. Hamilton will spend the time as a guest in the home of Mr. Brennan's aunt, Mrs. W. T. Mitchell, 520 West Second street, and Mrs. Mitchell is happy to welcome the return of the easterner to her status as niece-in-law.

OLD COPY OF HIGH SCHOOL PUBLICATION BARES 'DARK' PAST OF LEADING CITIZENS

By TED STEPHENSON

"Zulicum, zulicum, zulicum, bo!"

"Soquam, Soquam! Bo, boom, Ah!"

"'98 High School!"

"Zizz! Boom! Ah!"

Shades of Mars, Buck Rogers and inhabitants of the planetary kingdoms!

This conglomeration of words might at first lead the reader to believe that some how or other, The Register had become the possessor of a literary gem from one of the celestial spheres. Not so, however.

The formidable display of foreboding verbiage displayed here originated in the fertile brain of a Santa Ana high school senior in the class of 1898. The collection of sounds, no doubt intended to act as a stimulus to members of Santa Ana football teams, is found on the back cover of a little booklet entitled, "The '98 Rah," said opus being published without benefit of faculty advice or consent.

In fact, rumor has it that some of those who had a finger in the publication of the work, no names mentioned—yet, narrowly escaped suspension from school. The information presented here was taken from a copy owned by Dr. M. A. Patton.

Predicts Future

Here's one gem taken verbatim from the columns of "The '98 Rah," that tends to bear out the theory that the author was in some way related to Yogi Yorginson, the Hindu Mystic, whose power to see into the future is well known.

"Mr. Bry Williams, '97," the article reads, "is about to publish a new work on finance, entitled, 'The Art of Shifting Debts and Dues.' As Williams has made great personal investigation, his book is awaited with compound interest."

Even in those days, apparently, Bry had money matter tendencies. Today, he dabbles in the higher bracket financial problems of a Santa Ana bank.

The author of the publication, said by some to be one T. E. Stephenson, later in life, a newspaper man and at present county treasurer, went to great pains to explain just why members of the class of '97 had little or no chance to prosper. For instance, in one article entitled, "The '97 Engine House Association," he explains that in order to belong to this select group, applicants must, "smoke cigarettes (pipes allowed by special favor), must belong to the Farmers' Alliance, must be an adept in 'working' examinations, and cheating the cigar stands."

Association "Objectives"

The author also explains that the object of the association is to, "promote individual wickedness and laziness, and conjointly to increase the number of loafers and toughs around the fire engine house." President and Chief Obstacle was the late Bob Northcross, because of "his capacity for malicious designs." Claude Swope was, "Grand bluffer and Sneak Extraordinary to the Profs." Bry Williams for janitor because he "wore a No. 11 shoe, was a good sleeper, and cut examinations."

The Class of '99 also came in for its share of panning. Here's what the erudite editor had to say about them:

"The class is heterogeneous. They are a collection of overgrown infants, still in the cradle, babies in everything, except length of trousers leg. Babies they were born, babies they are, babies always will be, and babies they will die."

It seems, also, that the boys of '98 were a lively bunch, enjoying particularly the pastime of creating disturbances at neighboring grammar school graduation exercises. The editor of "The '98 Rah," however, denies that the lads from the Santa Ana institution had anything to do with such goings on. No sir, the '98ers were pure, faultless, blameless and innocent of the accusations.

Offers Excuse

"The high school boys have not a very enviable reputation in the rural communities of this vicinity," the editor editorialized, "Especially is this true of Orange and Tustin. The principle cause of this

72 STUDENTS QUALIFY FOR HONOR GROUP

Announcement of 72 Santa Ana Junior college students as qualifying for Alpha Gamma Sigma, California scholastic honor fraternity, was made today by Lella B. Watson, adviser. These students made a B average or better for the fall semester.

Women students lead the list of qualifying students with 48 members, men students qualified 24 members. However, Neil McDaniel, Associated Student president, garnered the most grade points, 48. Elbert Stewart and John Ramirez followed closely.

Santa Ana's Omicron chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma was founded in 1923. Permanent membership in the fraternity follows three consecutive semesters of an average of 30 grade points. No one is accepted by the college faculty with a grade lower than a C.

Election to the scholastic honor society is an indication of superior scholastic achievement and many universities offer scholarships on the basis of membership in the Alpha Gamma Sigma.

Officers are elected at the beginning of each semester.

Students qualifying for the honor group this semester are: Bain Alexander, Emaline Alford, Harvey Baker, Harold Barrett, Marjane Belcher, Barbara Berger, Hans Bergsetter, Roberta Berry, Gordon Bishop, Joshua Brady, Eleanor Buckles, Ruth Budd, Margaret Clinton, Dick Connell, Catherine Cooper, Claire Croughan and Mary Cryan.

Franklin Davis, Fred Dierker, Marian Doty, Genevieve Eustis, Eunice Filer, Clyde Fies, Robert Forney, La Vonne Franson, George Gray, Margaret Green, Helen Griggs, Mary Elizabeth Heaney, Mary Henderson, Geraldine Hess, Elizabeth Hill, Frances Hilleman, and Tom Hudspeth.

Jean Jacobsen, Robert King, Barbara Knuth, Rueben Krutz, Neil McDaniels, Wilbur Marsters, Larkin Martin, Marion Mattson, Albert Metzgar, Lois Miller, Josephine Owen, La Vene Parks, Mary Paxton, Helen Pierce, Marian Ragsdale, John Ramirez, Blanche E. Robbins and Henrietta Rurp.

Herman Sarier, William Schlosser, Marjorie Schmidt, Stanley Slaback, Muriel Snyder, Fred Stearns, Virgil Stevens, Elbert Stewart, Vivienne Switzer, Susumu Tanaka, Joy Townsley, Freda Wagner, Frances Was, Thomas Weir, Ann Wetherell, Charles Williams, Elvin Williamson and Jeanice Winget.

XXXI

A girl took a course in cooking,
Learned how to bake and fry;
And how to cook a roast or stew,
And how to make a pie.

She had lost eleven suitors
By feeding them poor ham,
Letting them get away from her
When they tasted of her jam.

She said, "I'll never lose the twelfth,
Nigh to perfect will I be,
I'll show him now that I can cook,
Perhaps he'll marry me.

So she filled a pie with cherries,
But she left in every stem;
Pestered him until he ate it,
Now he's joined the rest of them.

CALLING ALL DOGS!

By Albert Payson Terhune

DOG CHUMS AND FOES

You don't know why you like one neighbor and dislike another. It is the same with your dog. He may form a lifelong chumship with the dog next door. Or he may stage a fight with him every time they meet. Sometimes there is more to this than an ordinary attraction or prejudice. For instance—

In England, many years ago, dwelt a big Newfoundland dog which carried on an eternal feud with an almost equally big mastiff in the neighborhood. The Newfoundland's daily duty was to carry a basket to a butcher shop in a slum section of the town and to bring it home full of meat. One morning a throng of smaller dogs "ganged" him as he was on his homeward trip. He would not drop the heavy basket full of meat wherewith he had been entrusted. He hung onto it and at last got it safely home; although he himself was badly bitten and torn.

Instantly he went in search of his mastiff enemy. Together, side by side they scoured the slum district; until they had hunted down and thrashed and nearly killed every cur that had been concerned in the raid on the Newfoundland. Next day the two big brutes were as savage toward each other as ever. Against a common grievance, they had combined. Now the need for alliance was over, they hated each other as of old.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—You know, it just takes a mere mention of the Supreme Court, these days, when everybody within the sound of your voice will start handing down decisions on the President's reform plan. . . . From the way those nine old boys consistently went against the Administration, it's easy to see that they couldn't read the handwriting on the White House wall.

The question of whether the measure will pass the Senate has stirred up as much discussion as a presidential campaign. . . . All it needs to make it complete, is a Literary Digest poll.

Regardless of the outcome of the Court argument, a lot of senators will have to spend months picking out splinters. . . . They've been too energetic in trying to straddle the fence.

P. S. What I want to know is, if the New Deal got us out of the horse and buggy days, how come we need so many new robes?

JEAN ROGERS GIVES ADVICE FOR SUCCESS

Flaxen-haired Jean Rogers is not a Hollywood skyrocket!

The lovely favorite of Universal's flicker factory has achieved success in the films by patience and hard work. And her advice to Hollywood hopefuls, who will get their opportunity to impress through the medium of the Orange County Peace Officers' "personality contest," is to not listen to other people but to sit down and think out your individual problem.

That's why Jean is where she is today—in the leading feminine role in Boris Karloff's latest mystery opus, Universal's "Night Key."

Started in Serials.

Rather than follow the royal road to stardom this beautiful lady of the gardenia-white skin began her Hollywood career in serials, reputed by many wiseacres to be a detour fraught with dangers.

Friends in the movie capital informed Jean that she was on the wrong track. But this 20-year-old pride of Belmont, Mass., figured things out for herself. She decided to stick with those serial roles instead of starting near the top of the ladder.

She reasoned wisely. In the wild-western action pictures she had a chance to get the benefit of excellent directing and experience in every known dramatic situation—and Jean is now reaping rewards for her straight-thinking.

Two and a half years ago Miss Rogers was dishing up chocolate sundae behind a fountain in a Belmont, Mass., drug store.

That job supplied her with pin-money, 25c a day. Then along came a national beauty contest sponsored by Charles R. Rogers, now head-man for Universal on the coast, in which the search was for typical American beauties to appear in his picture, "Eight Girls in a Boat." Jean won the beauty crown and was rewarded with a role in the picture.

Realizing the necessity for training for screen work after her work in this initial production, the blue-eyed girl looked about Hollywood for the most exacting training school.

Gets "Break"

"I picked serials," Jean told the Register reporter, "you had to be good to last and the training you receive is the finest in the world for the screen."

So for two years Jean plugged away in her serials at Universal, but always preparing herself for better things which she felt confident would come in time.

Just two months ago came the "break" Jean had been waiting for so long. Charles R. Rogers saw her in one of the serials and became enthusiastic over the excellent acting of the girl he had discovered. Insisting that she be put into top-flight roles, Rogers made arrangements for her to go into the second romantic lead in the Virginia Bruce picture, "When Love Is Young."

Following the completion of that picture this popular young lady was handed the feminine lead in Boris Karloff's newest film in which she plays the role of his daughter.

The United Airlines' new main-line planes used on coast-to-coast service, seat 14 passengers in place of the usual 21. They have a non-stop schedule flight between Chicago and New York that takes but 3 hours, 55 minutes.

ANNOUNCE NEW ESSAY CONTEST

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—"How Advertising Benefits the Consumer" is the title of a $1,000 prize essay competition for high school and college students announced today by Advertising Age, national advertising newspaper.

The purpose of the contest is to foster more intelligent thought among students on the functions and value of advertising in the social and economic life of the American people, and to induce them to discover for themselves the many ways in which newspaper and other advertising benefits those who buy as well as those who sell.

The contest is divided into two classes, one for high school students, and the other for college undergraduates. Identical prizes are given in each group, and consist of first prize of $250, second prize of $100, third prize of $50, and 10 honorable mentions of $10 each. In addition, winners of first place in both divisions of the contest will be given a complete, all-expense trip to New York City.

A jury of prominent representatives of consumers, educators and business men will judge the contest, in which essays of not more than 1,000 words on the general subject, "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer," are sought.

The contest closes at midnight, May 1, 1937, and all undergraduate

S. A. MAN GETS ENGINEER JOB ON STEAMSHIP

Receiving an air-mail letter yesterday from her son, Carl Bower at Bellingham, Wash., Mrs. Cora L. Bower, 612 West Camille street, was informed that he had secured a post as second assistant engineer on the Matson liner, Grey's Harbor, and was leaving shortly for Honolulu.

It is gratifying to friends of Mrs. Bower and her son, to learn of the success which he is meeting in his chosen career. He took his second engineer's examinations only on December 21 and late in January received word as to the excellent rating he had made.

During the recent maritime strike he came to Santa Ana and spent the holidays and January with his mother. After receiving word as to his success in passing the examinations he left February 1 by airplane for San Francisco and thence for Seattle. He secured a post almost at once with the Matson company. The S. S. Grey's harbor on which he goes first to Hawaii and then by way of Panama Canal to the east coast before returning to San Francisco and the Pacific ports.

Death Charts For City Are Posted

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The St. Louis Safety Council has compiled a chart of death, based on the records of 147 persons who were killed here last year in traffic accidents, which shows that 71 per cent of the victims were pedestrians. Other deaths figured, in percentage, this way:

Automobiles colliding, 10 per cent; automobiles striking fixed objects, 7 per cent; and non-collision automobile accidents (skidding, etc.), 5 per cent.

In Flanders, for many years, it was the custom to throw cats from the top of a lofty tower on one day of each year. The animals were thought to harbor evil spirits.

students in any high school or college in the United States are eligible to enter. There is no entry fee, and nothing to buy. Complete details may be had from the Contest Secretary, Advertising Age, 100 E. Ohio St., Chicago.

Military Ball
Is Marked By Many Features

It was agreed by onlookers at last night's Military Ball of Jack Fisher chapter D.A.V., that a high point was achieved in color and beauty, not only by the military decorations, but by the unusually beautiful gowns worn by feminine guests.

Those in the receiving line seemed to set the note for smartness of attire, and the scene as dancing began, was one of rainbow colors, mingling and blending with the severe black and white or the uniforms of the men. Noticeable even in the crowd of hundreds of dancers, were the military full dress uniforms worn by various distinguished guests, and "kilt" and "plaidies" of the Canadian Legion.

Black Favored

Miss Elsie Janis, honor guest, appeared in black taffeta. Black was a favorite with many women, including Mrs. R. H. Sandon, president of Santa Ana Legion auxiliary, who accented her taffeta gown with rhinestone clips; Mrs. Fred Merker who combined crepe and lustrous satin; Miss Betty Timmons who gave accent to her taffeta formal with a great splash of red flower; Mrs. Jack Henle whose filmy chiffon was given demure white chiffon collar; Miss Helena Bailey in a tulle costume with blue flower motif on the tunic; Mrs. Joseph Daniger in crepe and net; Mrs. Russell Hardcastle in taffeta; Mrs. Charles McDaniel in crepe; Mrs. Glenn Cramer, chiffon velvet with Talmian roses; Mrs. Wallace Craney wore gardenias with her smart black frock and Mrs. John Cleary, wife of the commander of the host chapter, also completed an effective black crepe costume with gardenias.

Almost as popular was green in a multitude of tones. Mrs. Frank G. West, whose husband was master of ceremonies, wore filmy chiffon in the palest of seafoam; Miss Julia Magill wore a deeper green with rhinestone accents; Mrs. Gene Hays chose crepe in soft sage tones with rhinestone straps; Mrs. Clyde Higgins was in chateau crepe; Mrs. William H. Gray (Louise Vance) chose apple green satin.

Varied Colors

Rich pearly tones were popular. Mrs. George Miles developed this shade in her crepe gown with gold sequin trimming; Mrs. Ira Mercier wore panne velvet with a corsage cluster of iris in the same rich hues; Mrs. Harold Brown chose a floral satin in pearly hues as did Mrs. John Wall.

Mrs. Alvin Stauffer's gown was a china print; Mrs. Howard Timmons chose shell-pink lace; Mrs. Willard Swarthout was in lilac-stock red crepe; Dr. Perry Magill combined cameo pink crepe with black satin; Mrs. Irwin F. Landis wore soft blue lace; Miss Lydia Fisher was in printed crepe in flower design with gardenias; Mrs. Charles O. Arts wore eggshell lace blouse with black velvet; Mrs. Edward Hall was in white satin in damask design; Mrs. Cecil M. Hanson, flame red; Mrs. David Jellis, white satin accented with blue velvet; Mrs. W. F. Croddy, pink crepe with sequin trimming; Mrs. Andrew Lykke, gold brocade satin; Mrs. Terry Stephenson Jr., Dresden crepe veiled with white chiffon; Mrs. James M. Campbell, white satin with effective amber trimming; Mrs. Elliott Rowland, midnight blue crepe; Mrs. Lyle Kelley, pink and gray printed crepe.

Buffet Supper

Among the many parties inspired by the brilliant affair, was that with which the evening concluded in the A. G. Flagg home, 1520 North Broadway.

There Mr. and Mrs. Flagg, assisted by their daughter, Miss Jimmie Flagg, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Huber, presided at a buffet supper of unusual charm. Joints and the glow of many candles were especially delightful as guests enjoyed the menu provided by their hosts.

In the party with members of the family circle were Dr. and Mrs.

Successful Military Ball
Added To Social Calendar

A giant kaleidoscope, turning in some mysterious fashion of its own to present each successive pattern to the changing strains of music—such was the ninth annual Military Ball of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans. For to the memories of gay and brilliant functions for which these gallant hosts have been responsible, may now be added another, perhaps the most brilliant of all, last night's colorful gala in Valencia Ballroom.

Patterns formed by the slow turning of this musical kaleidoscope were in a multitude of colors, glowing reds, the blue of high summer skies, greens ranging from the first vernal wash of color to the rich and glossy shades of the forest leaved with the pattern always accented by massed flags and banners, the blue, the khaki, the deep maroon of uniforms, the glint of gold braid, the shimmer of ribbon decorations.

County Co-operation

And never since Santa Ana's World War hero, the late Jack Fisher, planned the first Military Ball back in 1928, carrying it to a success even beyond his own dreams, has there been such enthusiastic attendance. It was estimated that last night's crowd exceeded 800 dancers and onlookers in holiday mood. Indeed the opening grand march called so many couples on the floor that the pattern woven under the expert leadership of Mrs. A. G. Flagg of the Citizens' committee and the Hon. J. J. Viala, French consul at Los Angeles and special honor guest, occupied virtually every inch of the wide floor space.

But this came after the impressive opening features of the ball—an opening that aroused interest of the hundreds of onlookers. This was the appearance of the two uniformed drum corps, Santa Ana American Legion No. 331 and Anaheim American Legion No. 72. The Santa Ana men, in their attractive maroon and khaki uniforms, opened this feature, lining up before the massed colors for a remarkably fine program of patriotic numbers under direction of Eddie Couron. Anaheim men, in deep blue, were directed by Joe Elliott in involved and faultless floor work which ended this special phase of the evening's entertainment.

Arriving guests entered the ballroom between uniformed ranks of National Guardsmen under command of Captain R. P. Kellogg. Within the entrance was a receiving line, headed by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, who as prominent member of the Citizens' committee, had special charge of honor guest invitations. Mrs. Coulter wore a handsome Spanish shawl with her lace costume. Mrs. Dean Laub, president of D. A. V. auxiliary, chose a satin gown in floral print with rose tones, predominating. Mrs. Fannie Reeves was in white lace; Mrs. Fred Rowland chose a flower-design crepe with blue as its chief color motif, and Mrs. A. G. Flagg was in sweeping black crepe.

Grand March

As Mrs. Flagg and the French consul, and honor guest, Mr. Viala, led the grand march, Mrs. Reeves followed on the arm of Mr. Flagg, with other members of the citizens' committee and the guests gradually joining until one of the most involved and complicated grand marches in the history of the annual balls, was expertly carried through to its conclusion.

The program of dances which followed was an especially enjoyable one because of the extremely fine dance program played by the Royal Highlanders. This is an orchestra of comparative newness in the community, but its dance rhythms were so faultless, its music so new and sparkling, and its soloists so clever that everyone expressed lively satisfaction, and the hope of dancing again soon to such sparkling music.

It was a program of almost uninterrupted dancing—but the very brief interruptions were quite as delightful to all the guests. For the first was introduction of the incomparable Elsie Janis "Sweetheart of the A. E. F." and the second was introduction of distinguished guests during intermission.

Honoring Visitor

Old time friends who resided in Nebraska several years ago were brought together Monday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. C. S. Hibbard of Omaha, houseguest of Mrs. Maude B. Watson, 1924 North Ross street.

Mrs. Maud Ulrich and Mrs. Benny Morris of Los Angeles and Mrs. S. R. Brewster of Ontario joined Mrs. Watson and her guest for the occasion. The hostess' daughter, Miss Miriam Watson, assisted in serving luncheon early in the afternoon.

Mrs. Brewster remained for a few days' visit in this city, joining Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Hibbard in a trip to Laguna Beach yesterday. Mrs. Hibbard plans to spend two or three months in the Southland.

Club Members Complete
Plans For Weekend
Program

Completing plans for a house-party to be held this weekend in Laguna Beach, members of Wrycende Maedenu club met last night in the Y. W. rooms for a weekly dinner meeting followed by a program given by Mona Summers Smith of the Public Library.

Dr. Helen Brown of Ontario will lead discussions on "personality and charm" which will feature the weekend affair. Miss Marie Smith, as general chairman of arrangements, will be assisted by Miss Rose Lesh, food; and Miss Dorothy Jessee, transportation.

Miss Harriet Whidden extended members of the club an invitation to attend a meeting of Business and Professional Women's club next Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the Doris Kathryn. Reservations for the event are to be made with Miss Helen Gallagher. Since Wrycende Maedenu will hold no regular meeting on Tuesday, it is expected that many members will attend Monday night's affair. Thursday night of next week will bring a nation-wide banquet observance in Long Beach Y. W. C. A., with several members of Santa Ana club planning to take part.

Announcement was made that Wrycende Maedenu club's regular meeting March 9 will be in connection with an annual membership dinner of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Elsie Siemen presided over last night's program, introducing Mrs. Smith, who gave a fascinating review of "Stage Door" by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman. It was pointed out that the play has been playing before enthusiastic New York audiences for some time.

Chat and Sew Club
Meets in Orange

White and yellow narcissus were used in decorating the home of Mrs. Carl A. Pister, 331 North Grand street, Orange last night for a semi-monthly meeting of Chat and Sew club.

Appointments in patriotic theme decorated individual trays on which refreshments were served at the close of an evening of sewing. Present were Mesdames Dale Griggs, T. R. Nail and John J. Vernon, Santa Ana; J. T. McInnes, Carl Smith, Oliver Wickersham, V. O. Estes, Ensley Campbell, John Powell, Earl Wood, Edwin Westcott, Irwin Prevett, R. Sturges and the Mesdames Maud Sisson and Edna Case, Orange; with the hostess, Mrs. Pister.

The next meeting will be held March 9 in the home of Mrs. John Powell in Orange.

Native Daughters

Making plans for the visit on March 22 of Mrs. Florence Boye, grand president, members of Native Daughters of the Golden West met Monday night in K. C. hall.

February birthday anniversaries were celebrated with the usual gifts of pottery and handkerchiefs to the honored guests, Mesdames Genevieve Hiskey, Elizabeth Marselle, Ethel Wilson, Hannah Kerr, J. E. Pleasants, Naomi Shoerrock, Rose Ford and Marion Crum, the latter from Modesto, a past president of Santa Ana parlor.

Decorations in the patriotic theme were used for the refreshment hour with which the meeting closed.

Movie Actress
Attends Club
Dinner Event

From the time Miss Jean Rogers arrived in Santa Ana yesterday afternoon and was given the key to the city by Mayor Fred Rowland, until her departure for Hollywood late last night, the charming young film star probably had no better chance for a half hour of relaxation than she did when attending Wrycende Maedenu club dinner in the Y. W. rooms.

As a popular Universal movie actress, and as guest of honor at the weekly dinner, Miss Rogers of course was put on somewhat of a pedestal. But when she responded to the hospitality with such graciousness and warmth as she did, she became just "one of the girls." It was as one working girl to another that club members felt free to ask her questions about her work and activities in the movie city.

Many Engagements

Because her day had been so filled with public appearances, and since she had two theatre engagements to fill in Santa Ana and Orange following the dinner, Miss Rogers was not called upon for a talk. She did say a few words following her introduction by Miss Beatrice Smith, who also presented two other guests, John Whitehead of Universal studio's publicity department and Lee Mann of this city.

Miss Rogers' visit in Santa Ana yesterday was to add to the interest already created in plans for Orange County Peace Officers' hall to be held March 13 at Valencia ballroom. The movie actress expects to return to Santa Ana for the ball and a personality contest which will be one of its features.

Hard Way Up

Conversation with Mr. Whitehead disclosed that Miss Rogers had taken the "hard way up" to screen fame, achieving recognition and success via the serial route. Just having finished "Night Key" with Boris Karloff, Miss Rogers was to begin a new picture today.

Gracious and unaffected, smartly attired in a tailored suit with silver fox fur, Miss Rogers exemplified the charm and personality which her dinner hostesses have observed as their program theme for the past few weeks.

Delving into Miss Rogers' past (she is only 22 years old now), hostesses were delighted to learn that she had been a "Girl Reserve." Still maintaining an interest in such organizations for young girls, the lovely blonde star tentatively accepted an invitation to appear before local Girl Reserves sometime in the spring.

Known as "the girl with the gardenia white skin," Miss Rogers is said to be one of the most beautiful blondes in Hollywood.

Friday Night Brings
Country Club Party

Friday night will bring a monthly party for members of Santa Ana Country club, who will assemble in the clubhouse for cards and dancing at 8:30 o'clock.

R. A. Emmons is general chairman of arrangements for the informal affair. On the committee to assist him are Mrs. Emmons, Messrs. and Mesdames Hugh J. Lowe, H. L. Miller, Ben Osterman, Jack Colburn, A. A. May and R. C. Holmes.

Panhellenic Members
Enjoy Hospitality
Of Bailey Home

Sparkling with hospitality, the Paul Bailey home, 311 East Washington avenue, last night was rendezvous for Panhellenic society members, who there enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Carrie Wells, Mrs. James M. Campbell and Miss Reva Hawkins.

The hostess quartet developed a charming pastel color scheme in plans for serving a dessert course as the initial friendly gesture of the evening. Tables were spread with tarleton covers in various soft hues, and lighted by pastel tapers. Angel food cake with whipped cream was served with coffee and mint.

Seven tables were called into service, and later were used for contract and auction play. Mrs. Wendell Finley, scoring high in contract, received a clear crystal sugar and cream set, and a crystal vase went to Mrs. Carl Glassbrenner for second high score. To Mrs. Victor Hupp, scoring in auction, was given a pretty ivory bowl.

Mrs. Warren Fletcher presided over a short business session distinguished chiefly by announcement that the sum of $135 had been turned into the Junior College Student Loan fund as result of the Christmas dance. An appreciative letter from D. K. Hammond, junior college director, was read.

An invitation was extended by the North Orange county Panhellenic group to a bridge party complementing the local society to be held the night of March 8 in Anaheim Elks' club. Reservations for this must be made through Mrs. George Spielman, telephone 63593, by March 3.

Three guests were welcomed to the meeting, Mrs. Carl Glassbrenner, of Orange, Mrs. Ben Manker, and Miss Evelyn Schleber, a former Panhellenic member now visiting here from Bucyrus, Ohio.

Announcements

Senior and Junior Ebell society members and their husbands and guests are invited to attend the March 2 meeting of Junior Ebell society, when the Plantation Singers will present a program at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the clubhouse.

Tustin Advent Christian church service club will have a regular monthly 6 o'clock dinner and program Friday night in the social hall of the church. After the dinner there will be a speaker on Archaeology.

Thursday Evening Literary section of Ebell is to meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Eugene Robinson home, 2103 North Flower street, with Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Robert Wade and Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus as hostesses. Mrs. John A. Tessmann will be introduced as reviewer of "The Olive Field" by Ralph Bates.

Orange County Elementary Music Teachers' association will meet Monday night in Brea Woman's clubhouse on South Pomona street, where dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Paul Beatty, president, will be in charge. Dr. Coleman, superintendent of music in Pomona city schools will talk on "Public school music." All music teachers of the community, and others interested in the meeting, are invited to attend. Reservations should be made with Effie Matthews, Box 44, Tustin.

Welfare Branch of Episcopal Church of Messiah will meet Friday from 3 to 4 p. m. in parish hall.

Mrs. Mabel Clothier of Los Angeles is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. West, West Seventeenth street. Mrs. Clothier expects to return to her home March 1.

Mrs. Louis A. Pratt of Detroit, a recent guest of Mrs. L. S. Parks, 816 North Sycamore street, returned to Los Angeles Tuesday.

Mrs. Marion Crum of Modesto is a guest of Mrs. W. A. West and Mrs. Walter Mize during her stay in the south. She is a past president of Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West of which Mrs. West and Mrs. Mize are also members.

day from 3 to 4 p. m. in parish hall.

Miss Mitchell
Will Be Among
Summer Brides

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Fern Mitchell, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, to Parks Clemmons of San Diego, was made in a unique manner Saturday evening when a valentine party was given in the Mitchell home on South Verano road.

Upon arriving the guests were served a dessert course at small tables decorated in the valentine theme. Tiny slips of paper in the nut cups told of the approaching marriage in early summer of the young people. Mr. Clemmons attended the local schools before moving to San Diego. Miss Mitchell has been attending State Teachers' college in that city.

Hearts were played during the evening with prizes going first to Miss Eileen Swanson, second to Miss Vivian Marshall of Norwalk, and consolation to Miss Rachel Ralston of Whittier. When the prizes were awarded Miss Mitchell was presented with a corsage bouquet which contained her engagement ring which she exhibited to her friends.

Others present were the Misses Ruth Austin, Hemet, Lorraine Farrage, Santa Ana, and Leone Reddish, Calexico, college classmates of the honoree; Betty Steelman, Barbara Steelman, Yorba Linda; Phyllis Ralston, Pasadena; Lillian Geren, San Diego; Mary Birchfield, Brea; Vivian Harper, Santa Ana; Mildred Moen, of Whittier; Mrs. Virginia Metz, San Diego; Mrs. Evelyn Long Gwaltney, Anaheim, and the Mesdames Juanita Duncan, Gladys Cokerham, Fern and Joy Schuiter, Fern Mark, Harriett Short, Jewell Rogers, Lida Mitchell, Marcyne Mitchell, Mrs. Margaret Mitchell and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, Garden Grove.

You and Your Friends

Thomas Humiston, Santa Clara county probation officer, of San Jose, with two friends, Charles and Richard Means, of Palo Alto, Santa Ana for a week end visit with Mr. Humiston's father, Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston. Mr. and Mrs. George P. Moore, of Worthington, Minnesota, who have been wintering in Mexico, were here over the week-end, guests of Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston, former Minnesota resident. Mr. Moore is a publicist.

Mrs. George Klever, 221 Cypress avenue, and her houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klever of Okalla, Wis., were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mann of this city in a trip to San Diego and Old Mexico yesterday. The Wisconsin residents, who have been here for an extended visit, plan to return home in March.

Mrs. Mabel Clothier of Los Angeles is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. West, West Seventeenth street. Mrs. Clothier expects to return to her home March 1.

Mrs. Louis A. Pratt of Detroit, a recent guest of Mrs. L. S. Parks, 816 North Sycamore street, returned to Los Angeles Tuesday.

Mrs. Marion Crum of Modesto is a guest of Mrs. W. A. West and Mrs. Walter Mize during her stay in the south. She is a past president of Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West of which Mrs. West and Mrs. Mize are also members.

With a fork carefully take the center out of the cake, leaving a mound with walls and bottom an inch thick. (Toast the torn out part and serve with coffee next day.) Preheat the lime gelatin, using the pineapple and maraschino juice as part of the liquid required. When the gelatin begins to jelly, fold in one stiffly beaten egg white, the diced fruit and a few spoonfuls of the whipped cream. Fill the cake mound with this mixture and put into the refrigerator to chill. At serving time, combine the second white, beaten stiff, with the whipped cream, heap on the filled cake, sprinkle with nuts and serve at once. This recipe serves ten generously.

The guo duck is native to the beaches of the Northwest, and is a prehistoric hangover, belonging to the clam family. Clams (fresh) can be substituted. You will need a dozen large clams, buy them at the fish dealers and let him worry about the cleaning.

Guo Duck Chowder
3 medium sized potatoes, peeled and diced.

2 slices bacon, diced and fried.
1 large onion, sliced and fried in bacon fat.

1 pint guo duck, put through grinder.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Add milk to thin to desired consistency (about 1 quart).
Diluted flour to thicken chowder slightly.

—Contributed.
After preparing bacon and onion, add potato and ground clam, with a cup of water. Simmer, covered, until potato is done, then add milk, seasonings, etc.

Two Favorite Sandwich Fillings
Spread thinly sliced bread with Roquefort cheese spread; on this lay short slices of celery heart, a dab of mayonnaise, the top slice of bread and presto, a delicious sandwich, particularly good for the school child.

Mock Chicken Sandwich Filling: Buy a short pound of mixed chicken giblets and livers. Wash and boil with 2 pounds of veal from the hock. When the meat drops from the bone, let it cool in the broth. Run meat and giblets through the grinder, with cel-

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS PAY COURT FINES

Three speeders and five boulevard-stop jumpers were fined by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday. Those fined for speeding were A. W. Wiedeman, 765 West Third, Santa Ana, $6; Beryl McFadden, Route 1, Costa Mesa, $5 and Daniel Sullivan, Los Angeles, $8. Those who paid $2 each for boulevard stop jumping were Samuel Ward, Nina Drake, Henry S. Pankey, D. McMillan and George Cover, William Ward paid $2 for making a U-turn in the middle of a block. William McGinnis, charged with being intoxicated and with having a previous record of conviction for similar offense, was sent to jail for 30 days.

AUTOMOBILE CLUBS JOIN IN DRIVE FOR SAFE HIGHWAYS

"Make good roads safe roads."

This was the policy jointly subscribed to in a statement issued today by the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile association.

That development of good roads in California has now reached a point where emphasis must be shifted to making those roads capable of safely handling modern traffic volumes, was the keynote of the statement.

Divided highways with center construction entirely separating opposing streams of traffic with separated grades at major intersections headed the list of structural safety features which the clubs declared they will urge as the ultimate goal for all main routes of travel.

Highway officials will be actively supported in putting such a program into effect and the demand for "safety first" highway construction will be vigorously pressed by the two clubs, the statement declared.

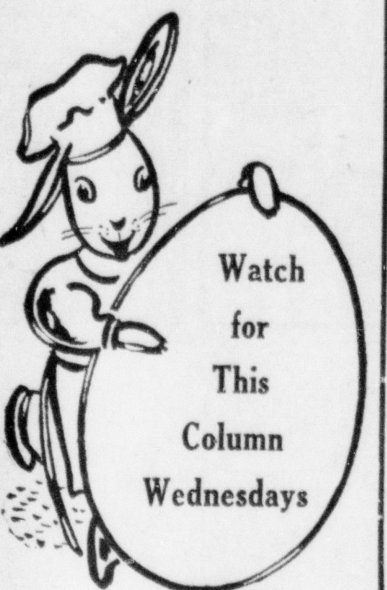

While giving first prominence to divided highways with grade separations, the clubs also called for an accelerated policy of eliminating curves wherever possible, flattening the crests of grades for greater visibility, an augmented roadway grade crossing elimination program, increased use of reflectorized markers for separating traffic lanes, removal of advertising structures which constitute traffic hazards, and stricter engineering control of installation and operation of traffic signs and signals in metropolitan areas.

Pointing out that the two clubs have for years actively supported the good roads movement in California, the statement continued: "Good roads are now here and the time has plainly arrived when California should turn next to the job of making these roads safe. Every possible safety factor must be provided. The program must in every instance be predicated on traffic needs."

Center traffic dividing construction on major arteries, it was pointed out, will practically eliminate head-on collisions and headlight glare, and remove nearly all of the hazards of passing, making it safe to pass even on curves.

The Torrey Pines Mesa Road in San Diego county was cited in the statement as a good example of divided highway construction. "Greater cost of such highways may hold down the amount of road construction in terms of mileage, but the demands of safety must now come first," the statement said. "California can no longer ignore the obvious fact that her accident toll has increased in pace with the growth of good roads. Those roads must now be made safe roads."

Club Has Meeting In San Pedro

Motoring to San Pedro Monday evening, members and guests of a bridge club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Bruce Vegely. Mrs. Edward Greaves of Wilmington and Mrs. Harry Harkleroad won prizes for their high and low scores.

Mrs. Vegely served refreshments at the close of card play. Her guests were members of the club, Mesdames Joseph Cornelius, Jack Casey, Robert Goetting, Lucius Conkey, with substitutes including Mesdames Russell Goetting, Harry Harkleroad and Arthur Casey of this city and Mrs. Greaves, Wilmington.

The group will meet again with Mrs. Vegely in two weeks' time, when a covered-dish dinner will be enjoyed.

CHINESE DINNER

An oriental theme prevailed in all details of a dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard received a group of relatives and friends Sunday afternoon in their home, 2009 Victoria Drive. A Chinese menu was served at one o'clock.

In the group with the hosts and Phyllis, Myrtis, Jack and Myron Gerrard of the home, were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gerrard, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gerrard, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lingo, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wickert, William Wickert, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Chamlee and three sons of Fullerton; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cheverton and children, Billy and Arthur, together with Barbara and John Codd of Whittier, and John Bodley, Los Angeles.

The Mixing Bowl By ANN MEREDITH

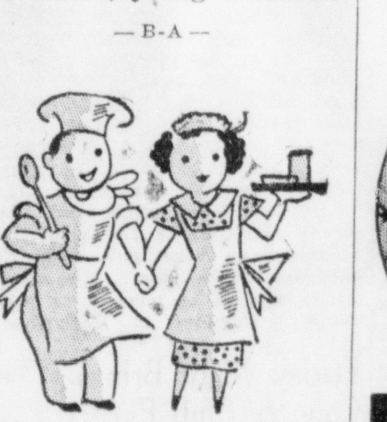

With boiled ham or roast pork spare ribs serve an apple and cabbage scallop. The goodness of this combination will delight you. In making the dish, use a wide shallow casserole, well buttered. Arrange alternate layers of sliced apple and shredded raw cabbage, each layer dotted with butter, a dash of salt and pepper, and a sprinkling of sugar over the apple layers. Pour a cup of water mixed with the juice of a large lemon over the dish and bake it slowly for 1 hour or longer, depending on the kind of apple used. Apples finish the top of this dish.

Apple and cabbage scallop would be one of the dishes the successful reducer might eat of quite heartily when ready to return to circulation. To get one's self to this point, write me for the Safe and Sane reducing diet. It is free but we ask that you enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

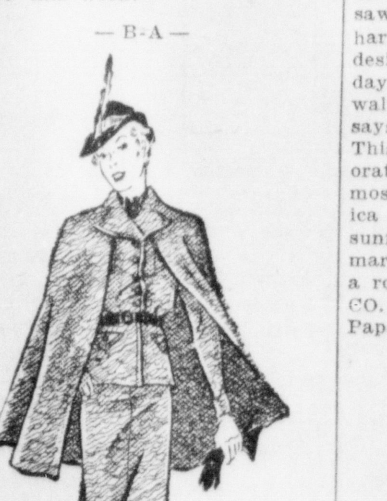

Filled Angel Food Cake

A large round or loaf-style angel food cake (bakery)

GAYETY is the mental keynote of the spring fashion picture. Characteristic are jaunty squared shoulder, the shorter, care-free skirts, the youthful sailor hats with rolled brims, worn on the back of the head, flippant, filmy frocks, floating veils, and amusing bright prints. It's a slim, young silhouette!

HOME CAFE, 314 N. Broadway. For a perfectly delicious home-cooked dinner go to the HOME CAFE. You'll get a wonderful meal for only 60c. Take the family along. They'll love it, too. Santa Anans have crowded the place for years. You'll find good food where the people go. Eat there this week!

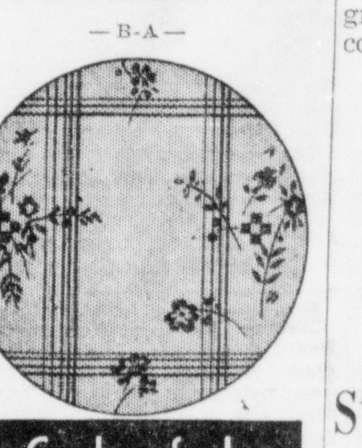

SCOLLER'S, 312 N. Sycamore. Capes are important this spring, particularly so if they are made of Forstmann's woolen or imported tweeds. In gray gabardine with crystal buttons, hi-low pockets, and epaulet shoulders, the cape makes a suit from SCOLLER'S 3-piece. Or in French-nude, just a trifle more fineness with the pleated cape.

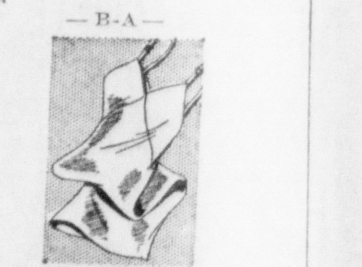

ARCADE REMNANT SHOP, Arcade Bldg., 515 N. Main. Do you realize Easter is nearly here... you see... it's scarcely a month away. So pop down right now to the ARCADE REMNANT SHOP for the loveliest material to make your newest gown. Hark! There are taffetas, Teds, knits, Doekins, shirkins, crepes, alpaca, woolsens, chiffons, jersey, and mar-

FLOWERS WERE WORN HIGH on the head during the winter, but they are out with the first call of spring. Instead we find flowers low. Place them above your low roll of curls at the back of your head. Bring them around to the front just above the ears. Your flowers may be artificial. However, fresh are more distinctive.

DIETLER PAINT CO., Broadway at Fifth. A premier showing of Washable Wall papers will be held at the DIETLER PAINT STORE, corner of 5th and Broadway, all week. Just drop in any time it is convenient for you. You will be as welcome as you are in your own home. Whether you're interested or not, do drop in. We want you to see what we saw... the most glorious and harmonious trend of color and design that's been out in many a day. Mr. Dietler has been hanging wall paper for 25 years. Even he says the colors are more glorious! This paper is pronounced by decorators as the finest line and most decorative produced in America and abroad. Every paper is sunfast and washable... a remarkable feature. The price is 15c a roll and up. DIETLER'S PAINT CO. are the distributors of Imperial Papers.

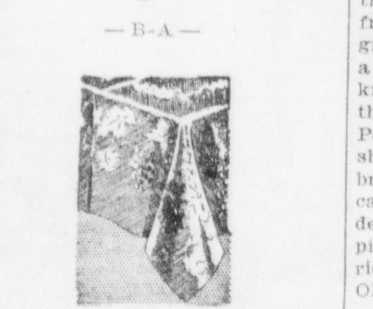

CHIC LINGERIE SHOP, 219 N. Broadway. Trillium... in slips, nighties, and panties. The slips are in navy, white, and tea rose... both tailored and embroidered. The nighties are tailored, trimmed in lace, embroidered, and hemstitched. At the CHIC LINGERIE SHOP you'll find Majed hosiery... it's ringless, streakless, and shadowless! One pair free with every dozen purchased. For that rustic beneath your dresses be new with a flowered taffeta slip in navy, brown, white, and rust.

ALBERT'S HAIRCUTTING PARLOR, Moore Bldg., Room 317, Phone 311. Want a new slant on life? Help yourself to a new haircut by ALBERT, the finest in town. Cut off those straggly locks. Have it thinned, or ask ALBERT for a special cut just for you. Specialized in the cutting of ladies' hair, he's famous in Santa Ana. Expect the best for yourself!

ONE PROMINENT DESIGNER predicts classic tailored hats of stiffened tulle with contrasting grosgrain will be worn with matching jabots and WRIST FRILLS. Your jabot, blouse, or scarf may match your hat, this spring. Bi-color is also shown in gloves e. g. in black and green, and gloves in terra cotta and beige.

SANTA ANA LINEN STORE, 114 E. Fourth (opposite Son-tags). Special for this week: All bridge sets in the store. Some elaborately applied by hand are only $2.25. They're mighty nice, too. You go see... and see! Others delicately embroidered for 75c. Many varieties in pure linen and damask... specially acquired at reduced prices. A special on all large banquet sets 2 1/2 yards and up, with as many different types as you probably could think to ask for. Want something that will wear forever? It's made in Russia, a Soviet Union Damask banquet cloth, $4.95 and up. Pretty cheap, isn't it? But they're cloths for every occasion, more expensive, delicate weaves, if you desire, 75c. Many varieties, actually made in Italy, are out this week, too. Go to the SANTA ANA LINEN STORE for the most gorgeous, beautiful tapestries you ever saw.

RONSHOLDT'S, Santora Bldg., 205 N. Broadway. Whether it's a costume or tailored suit, a riot-of-color print, or an all-over-one-color with a simple trim, or a decisively new material in an evening dress, it's a "can be had" at RONSHOLDT'S. You'll find RONSHOLDT'S clothes will set the pace in the traditional Easter parade. Buy something for your wee-little Miss at the same time, sizes 7 to 16 in the girls outfits.

CHILDREN'S BOOTERY, 407 N. Broadway. Opened! The shop you've been waiting for. Shoes for infants and growing girls. Special attention for those hard-to-fit "booties". And... the proper 4-type of shoes for school children. Gertrude Bradford has countless shoes with the sharkskin tips. You know how much you like those.

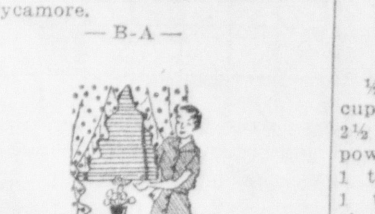

STEIN'S STATIONERY STORE, 307 W. Fourth. With St. Patrick's Day but three weeks away, all the parties are being carried out with the green of Emerald Isle for the color theme. Shure, and it's the freshest of colors too... that green from Ireland. STEIN'S have a glorious assortment. Cards you know... greeting cards to wish them the "luck of the Irish" on Pat's day. Place cards, tallies, shamrock - shaped napkins, and bridge table cloths, seals, mottoes, candy cups, favors of all kinds in designs of snake, harp, shamrock, pipe, etc. You'll find all St. Patrick decoration at all at "STEIN'S, OF COURSE."

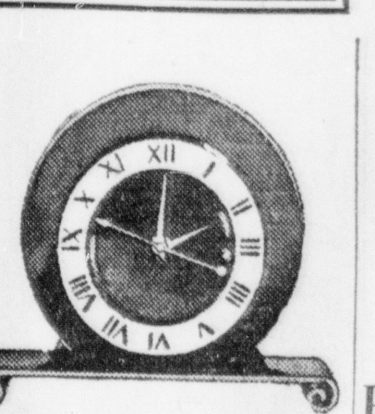

HAMMOND BROS. CORP., 1246 S. Main, phone 2517. The newest thing in drainboards for your kitchen are rubber drainboards. They are so easy to keep clean, so sanitary, and extremely smart. If you see one in the new homes being built today you'll have your present drainboards torn out and be satisfied with nothing less than rubber. Don't let your kitchen look down at the heels. This is the time of the year to spruce up. Ask to see them. You'll have nothing else!

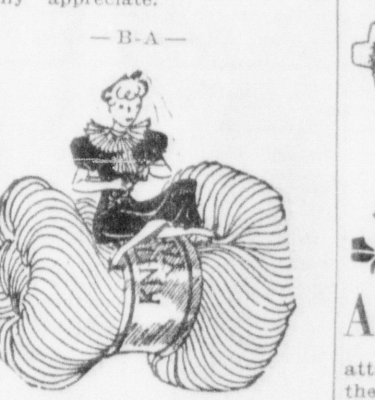

LOVELY new spring frocks in all the new colors as well as gorgeous prints are coming in each day. Our new line of Filmarie Frocks, Hollywood inspired and California made "Modes of the Moment" are sold here exclusively and they are so moderately priced that the ladies are enthusiastic over them. LA GRACE SHOP, 413 N. Sycamore.

PACIFIC POTTERY YARD, Main at twentieth. Potted cactus plants in blue and green jars are available this week in a very particular PACIFIC POTTERY YARD SPECIAL. The 4-inch size is 35c, the 5 1/2-inch size is 60c. Lovely varieties of cactus are planted in the pots already to adorn your home or yard.

HAVEN FOR BRITAIN'S FLEET

NATURE, eons ago, built the rocky inlets that have made Malta, in the Mediterranean, a convenient "dog-house" for the British fleet. Half-way between Italy and Africa, this haven is one of the most crucial spots in the Mediterranean today.

So important is it to Great Britain that even the rocky headland overlooking Grand Harbor are part of the British navy, commissioned as "His Majesty's Ship Egmont," and in command of an admiral. It is one of five fortresses that guard this harbor.

Report Naval Officer Better

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 24.—Lieutenant-Commander Augustus M. ("Gus") Baldwin, U. S. N. R., who suffered a cardiac stroke late Saturday night, is reported as resting easily, well on the way to recovery.

Observation balloons still are the best method of reporting the enemy's position, because they use direct telephone lines to the battery. Plans must use radios and it is easier for the enemy to "jam" their messages.

COUNTY CHORUS ELECTS FORMS NEW PROGRAM

Thirty members of the Orange County Chorus met for rehearsal and election of officers in the music room of the Anaheim Union High school this week.

It was announced that the county farm bureau had organized a recreational department in order that the county chorus might be effectively tied into the activities of the county organization.

A nominating committee consisting of A. E. Christensen, chairman; Frances Liles, Mrs. Louis Walker, Herman Freese, and Robert Knapp, submitted the following nominations for 1937:

President, Frank A. Manuel; vice-president, Lyman Harpster; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. Clay Kellough; librarian, Henry Klansing; hospital chairwoman, Mrs. Rose Stanfield. A committee of four was elected to represent the chorus on the recreation board.

The chorus will provide a program at the Yorba Linda Farm center on March 15; La Habra Farm center on March 29, and Garden Grove on April 8.

Regular rehearsals will follow these meetings.

CONSTABLES ASKED TO MAKE REPORTS TO COUNTY BOARD

With one supervisor expressing the belief that some Orange county constables "aren't worth their salt," and another supervisor wanting to know what the constables are doing in the way of law enforcement, the board of supervisors late yesterday called on the constables to report in detail on their policing activities during the period from November 1, 1936, to March 1, 1937, such reports to be filed by March 23.

The request followed a report by Sheriff Logan Jackson on police protection given by the sheriff's office to the Buena Park district, for which Supervisor Harry D. Riley is seeking special police service. Riley's request a week ago brought the sheriff's report yesterday.

Jackson showed that 22 calls to the sheriff's office from the Buena Park vicinity had been answered and investigations made during December, January, and the first half of February.

The sheriff incidentally pointed out that his limited force of deputies is required to police the unincorporated area of the county having a 50,000 population, while the police departments of the cities have 113 officers to police about 80,000 population.

His farm theft detail of seven men has greatly reduced thievery, Jackson pointed out, showing that annual average of thefts were about 15,000 pounds in 1936, whereas they amount to about 1000 pounds a year now.

Supervisor Riley had suggested another farm theft patrol car for the Buena Park area.

Supervisor John Mitchell, at the conclusion of Jackson's report, remarked, "Now, I wonder what the constables are doing, and would like to know, before I favor adding more farm-theft officers. The constables ought to carry a part of the load."

"Some of the constables aren't worth their salt," said Supervisor N. E. West.

NEW SODA FOUNTAIN OPENS AT SONTAGS

Working all night last night, workmen completed installation of a new $1200 soda fountain unit at the Sontag drug store lunch counter, 115 East Fourth street, Manager Meredith Boland announced today.

The installation replaces the former unit which was eight and one-half inches wider and less efficient to operate for those among the clerks and soda dispensers who are not "six footers," Boland declared.

The new unit, holding 40 gallons of ice cream, was installed after Morris Sontag, president of the Sontag drug company, arranged details. He suggested the change a year ago as an additional convenience for employees and as a means of bringing quicker, more efficient service for customers, it was pointed out.

AT LITTLE COMPTON, RHODE ISLAND, A MONUMENT WAS ERECTED IN 1925, COMMEMORATING THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE RHODE ISLAND RED BREED OF FOWL.

SEVERAL HUNDRED YEARS AGO, CERTAIN CHRONOLOGERS TRIED TO REFORM THE METHOD OF RECKONING TIME BY INSERTING A YEAR A.D. 0. BETWEEN THE YEAR 1 B.C. AND THE YEAR A.D. 1, BUT NOTHING EVER CAME OF IT.

IN 1900, there was considerable discussion as to whether that year was the last of the 19th century, or the beginning of the 20th. However, since there was no intervening year "zero" between A. D. 1 and B. C., it follows that the first century ended with the completion of the year A. D. 100, and the 19th century ended with the completion of 1900.

HOMICIDE VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

An inquest jury at Winbigler's funeral chapel yesterday afternoon handed down a verdict that the death of Marcus J. Reza, 28, Stanton, Saturday morning from loss of blood after he was shot through the groin with a 45 caliber army automatic, was "homicide."

A few hours after the shooting on a Stanton thoroughfare, in front of the Walnut street home of Concepcion Vieyra, 40, deputy sheriffs swooped down upon a Westminster home, knocked a door down and captured Vieyra, whom they charged with the crime, filing a murder charge against him.

Vieyra, held at county jail, will have his preliminary hearing March 2 at 10 a. m. in Anaheim justice court. According to an asserted confession—the death weapon was found under Vieyra's pillow upon which he was resting when officers found him—Vieyra's act was the result of a year-long feud.

Supervisor Riley Named for State Water Committee

Supervisor Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, is one of a committee of five appointed to formulate a state-wide flood control and water conservation program, for which a share of the federal appropriation of six billion dollars will be sought.

The committee was named at a meeting of county and city officials called in Los Angeles last Thursday by H. F. Legg, of the Los Angeles county flood control district.

Riley informed the Orange county supervisors yesterday that plans for the state program would be discussed at the state convention of supervisors in Sacramento March 17-19.

$50,000 TRUST OPENED TODAY

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today was hearing the three lawsuits that developed out of a dispute over distribution of the $50,000 trust fund left by the late August Wellhausen, of Orange.

The first suit was brought by the First National Bank of Orange, trustee of the Wellhausen trust, which specified that $400 was left to the Lutheran church, of Orange, the remainder to a nephew, Hendrich Wellhausen, of Chicago.

The bank recited that L. E. Coburn and A. E. Koepsel, Orange lawyers, claimed $4235.78 against the trust, for services rendered. Adolph Wellhausen, another nephew, in getting an agreement that one-third of the trust should go to him. The bank had rejected the claim of the attorneys, and asked the court to authorize it to distribute the trust, $400 to the church, two-thirds of the remainder to Hendrich Wellhausen and one-third to Adolph Wellhausen.

Another suit filed was that of H. A. Coburn, assignee of the attorneys, Coburn and Koepsel, against Adolph Wellhausen, for the $4235.78. A third action was that brought by L. E. Coburn against the bank, to compel the bank to deliver the contract with Adolph Wellhausen, or to have judgment for $2250 as an alternative.

Also appearing in the case are heirs of the late Jacob Mueller, of Orange, who claim that Attorney Koepsel had assigned to Jacob Mueller his claim upon the Wellhausen trust. This assignment had been satisfied and nothing is due the Mueller heirs, Koepsel claims. Attorneys Drumm, Tucker and Drumm represent the bank, Louis Bean Jr. is counsel for Adolph Wellhausen; John Martell and Donald Harwood are attorneys for the Mueller heirs.

JULES VERNE FILM TO START THURSDAY

Hitting a high note in movie drama, the new RKO Radio picture "Michael Strogoff," from the Jules Verne classic, opens at the Broadway theater tomorrow as the leading feature on a double bill that has the comedy, "Two Wise Maids," sharing second honors.

Actor Walbrook, said to be the actor "find" of the year, makes an auspicious debut as Michael Strogoff in the title role. With a background of seething Russia during the revolution serving as a plot, the picture has Walbrook in the role of a courier of the Czar, in love with an enchanting lady spy. The plots, intrigues and conflicts of the ruling classes in the days of the Tsars are all dramatically shown in this Verne masterpiece.

In "Two Wise Maids" Allison Skipworth and Polly Moran are teamed for the first time. It's an hilarious comedy of school days and not without humorous pathos. The story concerns Miss Skipworth, who with 35 years of service to a school, is about to be resigned. Her pupils and life long friend take it upon themselves to see that she is vindicated of the charge made in the plan to oust her. How this is finally accomplished proves delightful entertainment and adds just the right lightness to a well balanced program.

To be seen in the supporting cast of "Two Wise Maids" are, Lila Lee, Luis Alberni, Jackie Searl, Hope Manning and Donald Woods.

MILLER WILL TALK AT POULTRY MEET

D. W. Miller, executive secretary of the Orange County Poultry Credit association, will be the principal speaker on a double-headed poultry program that will be held in the farm bureau hall on North Main street here at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Miller's talk will deal with great detail on the program of the government-assisted financing for poultrymen of this area.

A. L. Wolfert, chairman of the poultry department of the Orange county farm bureau, will preside. He also will introduce a speaker from the Poultrymen's Cooperative association, who will talk on "Prices of Poultry Feeds and the Outlook and Remedy."

Wolfert also said that an up-to-date report on poultry legislation now before the state assembly, will be presented along with other data of interest to the organization.

TWO PERSONS ESCAPE HURTS IN ACCIDENT

Fred Charles Baier, 49, Orange, and Glenn M. Diamond, 18, Route 1, Santa Ana, escaped injury on Newport road between the Arches intersection and Costa Mesa, when their cars collided, they reported to highway patrol officers yesterday. They reported the accident occurred the night before.

Funeral services for 21-year-old Ray Welty, Orange youth who was directing traffic at Newport road and 101 highway early yesterday morning when a car, out of control, crashed him against a tree, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon from Shannon's funeral chapel, Orange, at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. James B. Abbott of the Free Methodist church, Orange, will officiate. Interment will follow at Fairhaven cemetery.

Welty was the county's 11th traffic victim of the year. He was struck by a car operated by Lloyd Willis, Buena Park, who, officers declared, had crashed through a road repair barricade, erected following the recent rain storms which washed out the highway on 101. Willis is at Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from cuts, bruises and shock. An inquest for Welty is pending.

Lloyd Duprey, 45, Huntington Beach, was injured today at St. Joseph hospital although still unconscious, it was reported. Duprey was injured at Coast highway and Talbert road Monday evening when his car collided with one operated by Gaines Farrell, 38, Los Angeles, and occupied by Farrell and Irene Unicom, 34, Long Beach. Farrell and Miss Unicom, suffering from injuries less severe, also were improved today at St. Joseph hospital.

An inquest was still pending today for Francis Carr, 20, Los Angeles, who was killed on Coast highway early Sunday morning near San Clemente, when he fell asleep at the wheel and his car overturned. The inquest will be held at Dival's chapel, San Clemente.

YWCA WORKERS PLAN PROGRAM

More than 60 members and active workers in the various groups of the Y. M. C. A. met last night at dinner in the Y building as a preliminary to group meetings for the purpose of planning the organization's spring program.

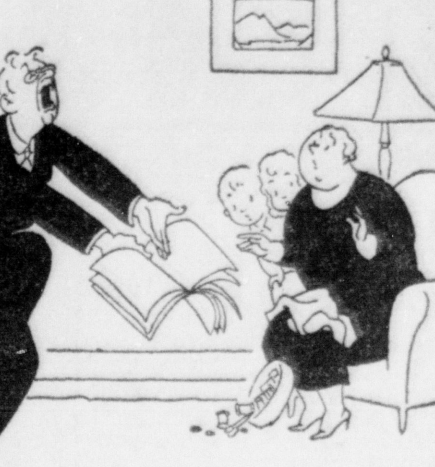

Groups participating in the dinner meeting included the Boys' Work Committee, Handball Committee and the Phi Sigma Tri Club.

G. D. Tidball, president of the Y. M. C. A., presided during the dinner and introduced the speakers including H. G. Nelson, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee; Dr. E. G. Raitt, chairman of the Handball committee and Paul Alberts, president of Phi Sigma Tri. The closing talk was delivered by Ralph Smedley, secretary of the organization who stressed the fact that while each group was a distinctive part of the Y. M. C. A. all of the separate organizations were necessary to complete the organization.

Plans for further organization and service during the year were completed by the Boys' Work group.

Plans for a Spring "Ladder" challenge tournament were completed by the handball committee to start within 10 days. This tournament will be supplemented by a Round singles tourney in May and a doubles tourney to follow.

SPRING STYLES ARE EXHIBITED TO STUDENTS

Spring styles were ushered in this morning by Santa Ana Junior college students at Willard auditorium in the form of a fashion show. Vandermast's and Rankin stores sponsored the show.

Fourteen jaysse students acted as models, displaying the latest creations for the spring season. Apparel for bench wear, street wear and formal attire was displayed.

Rankin's dry goods store and Vandermast's store provide the garments for display. Lyle Anderson, local merchant, acted as master of ceremonies throughout the performance.

Students who acted as models were Velma Kuechel, Clyde Files, Clarice Miller, Paul Christ, Margaret Crowell, Lawrence Trickey, Viola Rowland, Fred Erdhaus, Jack Wallace, Dorothy Jenkins, Henrietta Rurup, Helena Bailey, Allen Titens, and Paul Martin.

Entertainment was provided by Ann Wetherell, who sang a solo; Harold Pottoff, who also sang; and a trumpet duet by Winfred Crist and Onie Sanders.

HOLD 'FENCE' AS SUSPECT CONFESSES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—(UP)—Admissions from a burglar suspect today led to discovery of robbers' loot worth $100,000, police disclosed today.

Lieut. Sam Miller of the burglary detail said Bernard Vednar, an ex-convict, arrested yesterday in connection with the burglarizing of the home of W. H. B. Fowler, admitted he had been robbing San Francisco homes since 1932 and had turned his stolen goods over to a "fence."

He designated Pasquale La Rocca, 54, as the "fence," and when police went to his home to arrest him, they found jewelry, silverware, furs and clothes worth approximately $100,000.

As soon as we were on board I gave Stodard some work to do in our drawing room and went to see the Bishop. I found my note had had the desired effect.

Then I went back to the drawing room and gave Stodard a little knock on the back of the head with a hammer I had with me for the job. He was sitting at the small round table, so I moved the writing table away from the window and dragged him across to it and popped him out. It was quite dark by then so no one could see from the deck. Then I threw the hammer and the gloves I wore while I was arranging the room to join him. I found I'd cracked his silly thin skull, so I had to sponge out a spot of blood on the carpet before I changed into evening dress in his room.

I GOT up to the lounge at half-past seven and introduced myself as Stodard and after a while wrote the closing prices in my diary again in front of everyone, and in the same kind of handwriting. I told the steward to push it under the door of the cabin and stayed in the lounge until the bugle sounded for dinner.

After that everything went according to plan. At 8:30 the Steward came up with the note I had left addressed to Stodard and I hurried down with him to the cabin. While he was in the bathroom I exchanged the note I had kept in my pocket with the one that had been pushed under the door. That proved the missing party was alive at 7:45, and you see although I'd worked this thing out pretty carefully, the difference between doing a thing just to make allowances for the unexpected, I didn't see why the suicide story shouldn't be accepted.

You know, it's almost worth it to have seen the Bishop's face when he saw me the next morning and realized I hadn't committed suicide. After thinking he was rid of me he must have realized what I had done. That's why he faints.

Well, that's all, and since it hasn't come off I want to see it finished with as little delay and formality as possible.

CHAPTER XXV

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FIFTH REPORT, CONTINUED

IN closing this report I now have to confess myself completely at a loss.

The following is an analysis of what occurred according to my latest information.

MRS. JOCELYN. Could not have done it, because she was with "Slick" Daniels, alias Count Posodini, from 7:45 till 8:10 in his cabin, and from 8:10 till 8:30 she was with her husband, changing.

COUNT POSODINI, alias "Slick" Daniels. Could not have done it, because he was in his cabin with Mrs. Jocelyn from 7:45 till 8:10, and from that time until 8:25, when he appeared in the lounge, he would have been occupied in changing.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE. Could not have done it, because from 8:10 when he came down to his cabin, until he went up changed at 8:35, Dr. Ackland was with him and vouches for his presence there.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE. Could not have done it, because from 7:15 until 8:0 the ship's carpenter was doing a job of work outside his cabin and vouches for the fact that he never left it during the whole of that time.

LADY ELTER. Could not have done it, because her maid, Mildred Short, was with her, in her cabin from 7:05 until 7:35, and from 7:35 till 8:05 she is proved to have been knitting the last sleeve of a jumper, which would have occupied her the whole of that time, until she went up to the lounge.

MR. HAYASHI. Could not have done it, because, when he rang his bell at 7:50, the steward found him in his cabin still unchanged, and he was still unchanged when the steward returned at 7:55, with the newspaper. Eight out of the following 20 minutes he was occupied in writing a letter and the balance in changing to arrive in the lounge at 8:15.

MR. JOCELYN. Could not have done it, because from 7:15, when he went below, he was with Miss Ferri Rocksavage in her cabin, until 8:10, and from that time until 8:30 he was with his wife changing.

MISS ROCKSAVAGE. Could not have done it, because from 7:15 she was with Jocelyn in her cabin until 8:10, and from thence onwards she was occupied with changing in the presence of her maid, Nellie Orde.

It seems to me, therefore, that all the parties under suspicion have incontestable alibis, and as we know that Stodard was in the company of various persons in the lounge from 7:30 until 8:33 he could not possibly have committed this murder either. Moreover it could not, on the evidence shown, have been any member of the crew. This leaves me at a completely dead end, and I am now awaiting further instructions.

MEMO

To Detective Officer Kettering:

Solution of murder perfectly clear on evidence submitted.

Arrest Bolitho Blane, now posing as his secretary, for the murder of Nicholas Stodard.

JOHN MILTON SCHWAB, Lieutenant Florida Police.

LIEUTENANT SCHWAB'S ANALYSIS OF THE FOREGOING EVIDENCE.

THE time of the murder was set between 7:45 and 8:30, owing to a message, supposedly in the victim's handwriting, appearing on a leaf torn from Stodard's diary, which was not in existence until 7:40.

Compare the share quotations supposedly written by Stodard, however, with other examples of handwriting known to have been written by Blane. The word "Rocksavage" in the share list also occurs twice in Blane's letter to Stodard and twice in his letter to the Bishop. The similarity of the first to the other four immediately springs to the eye, only the "s" and the "g" differing to any extent. Other similarities appear on closer inspection and there can be no doubt that all the share documents were written by Blane, the writer of the share quotations therefore wrote the alleged last message, so that there is no evidence as to when the murder was committed. The alibi of the man presumed to be Stodard begins only at 7:25 when he entered the lounge. If the crime was committed before that his alibi falls to the ground.

Examination of the evidence brings other points to light showing that the man known as Stodard throughout the investigation is in reality Bolitho Blane. These are as follows:

First—Photograph D of Blane's bathroom shows a safety razor on the washstand, whereas photograph E of Stodard's cabin shows a cut-throat razor on the washstand. The photograph presumed to be of Stodard, flashed by Detective Officer Neame on the morning after the crime, shows a razor cut on the man's face. It is obvious that he had always been used to shaving with a safety razor but, as suite C was locked up after the murder, he could not get at this, and had to do the best he could to shave himself with the cut-throat razor that was in Stodard's cabin.

Second—On examination of the photograph presumed to be of Stodard, it is apparent that the coat he is wearing is too big for him, as the sleeve is overlong, and the garment must have been built for a slightly taller man. It is obvious that Blane, having changed identities with his secretary, had to wear his secretary's clothes, which did not quite fit him.

THIRD—It will be recalled that on the night of the 8th, when the man presumed to be Stodard dined with Kettering, he complained of an abscess which was causing him trouble with his false teeth and, as the upper set were slipping badly, he was unable to eat any solids. An examination of photograph D of Blane's bathroom, shows a tooth brush and a plate brush, the latter being an indication that Blane had false teeth, whereas in photograph E of Stodard's cabin there is on the wash basin an ordinary tooth brush only.

Further, in the inventory of Blane's belongings there appears a bottle of Gum Tragacanth powder, which is used for sprinkling upon dentures in order to keep these in position in the mouth. As suite C was locked after the crime, Blane was no longer able to get at this powder, hence his difficulty in keeping his false teeth in place on the following night.

Fourth—it will be recalled that, at the end of his first examination, on the morning after the crime, the Bishop of Bude faints. At that time it was assumed, upon the Bishop's word, that his faint was caused by a weak heart and the fact that he had had no breakfast.

It is clear, however, that the true reason was the shock he sustained upon the man, presumed to be Stodard, coming into the cabin. As the Bishop had not breakfasted with the others it was the first time that morning he had seen the secretary and, as he knew him to be Blane, he must have thought at first that he was seeing a ghost.

The reason for Blane's letter, written from New York to the Bishop, warning him that some very strange things might occur once the yacht put to sea, and that whatever might happen the Bishop was to keep his mouth shut for his own sake, now becomes apparent.

Blane's confession on his arrest confirms the above deductions.

JOHN MILTON SCHWAB, Lieutenant Florida Police.

CONFESSON OF BOLITHO BLANE.

YES, all right then, I killed him. Little scoundrel, what use was he, anyway?

I've known since last December that I might have to get out any minute. In fact, I suppose I've realized it might have to come sometime ever since I started business.

All I wanted was peace, and I knew if I could find someone to step into my shoes and leave me his to step into I could have it, started looking in January for someone whom my shoes would fit. It was only a question of patience. Someone of the right height, build, age and with no friends would turn up.

Stodard turned up in Ipswich about the fifth place I had spent a week in, advertising and interviewing applicants. He was ideal, no friends, no family—just the sort of man I wanted to become myself, so I decided to let him do the first big thing he'd ever done—go out with a bang.

When Rocksavage asked me to his conference I thought there was a faint possibility of pulling things together, and Stodard could have gone back to his clerking. By the time we got to New York, though, I knew my position was hopeless and I decided to put Stodard through the hoop.

I had a nasty shock in New York when I learned the Bishop of Bude was to be on board. Very few people know me by sight and

PORTO</

A GOOD ATMOSPHERE

Soaring of John Trent, former Santa Ana, to the heights in the movie world, naturally, interested us. Then, along came a member of the editorial staff of The Register with a bang-up story that revealed that Trent is not the only one from Santa Ana who made good in our neighbor city of Hollywood.

Further investigation revealed also that the movie field is not the only territory in which Santa Anans have risen to fame and fortune.

Perhaps it might be uncouth for us to say that our own city, and county, is a better place to live than most localities in these United States. But surely is not amiss to point out that whatever they can do in other centers, we can do here. There is a high type of citizen and community leader in the county seat, and every city and village in the district. This provides an excellent example for the youth—the citizens and leaders of the future.

And in saying all this, we do not mean, of course, that we CANNOT stay right here in our own back yard WITHOUT having a big chance for a big success. It is time again for all of us to remember that the grass is never greener on the other side of the fence—it just looks that way!

YOU PAY RABBLE ROUSERS

As you buy your groceries or the clothing for your children and you find that you are able to buy less and less with each dollar, you must remember that you are paying for the rabble rousers for the last quarter of a century. Every rabble rouser who is able to sell envy and hate and thereby get laws through Congress which prevent the natural division of labor, makes all comforts and necessities of life scarcer; and this lack of production, of course, is passed on to the consumer, in spite of what the rabble rousers claim that it will be paid by the rich.

The rabble rousers are your worst enemy. They continually tell others to do things which they cannot do themselves or cause to be done.

Your constantly decreasing dollar, which will grow less and less, is paying for the bad laws foisted on to the public by rabble rousers, by dreamers, by painters of wish-pictures. These laws that curb production and permit monopolies and regimentation are paid by the worker, the farmer and the small business man in a manner that of necessity must be painful. Just as soon as the housewife and the working man realizes that the purchasing power which goes into their envelopes is paying for this waste and lack of production, we will correct these laws that retard production and put into effect laws which will curb the waste of the rich so that there will be a much greater production and the materials will be so plenty and so cheap that the working man can again have a decent living.

Remember the rabble rousers are your worst enemy!

ADVERTISING BENEFITS CUSTOMER CONTEST

On the first page of the second section The Register is running a news item of a contest offering $1,000 in prizes for the best articles written by high school and college students. It is free, no entry fee and nothing to buy.

This is a splendid study in ethics, economics and morals and is worth the effort of any student with an active mind. If he does not win the prize, it will have paid him well to attempt to analyze in his mind the effect of advertising on people.

This is of special importance because so many theorists and people without practical experience and without analytical minds are of the opinion that advertising adds to the cost of merchandise to the customer. The reason it does not add to the cost to the customer is that if the advertiser for one minute tries to add it to the cost to the customer, instead of using it as a method of reducing the cost to the customer, this business house goes out of business. Competition prevents him from adding it to the cost to the customer. It is one of the greatest mediums ever devised of lowering the cost to the customer.

But we are not writing the essay for the high school or college student. Turn to the article under Chicago date line and read the particulars and use an attempt to write this essay as a liberal education in business and economics.

Editor Register:—Monday's editorial "An Interesting Reminder" quoting Walter Lippmann in his column "The Flight from Democracy" prompts the report that the constitution is a flight from lucidity when its language is so involved and its meaning so vague that it can be neither read nor understood by the people whose rights it claims to protect. When a document—no matter how sacred its claims—is the creature of conflicting opinions and designs to the tune of 4 against five today and 3 against six tomorrow, by nine old men specially equipped for their job, then it presents a clear case for the necessity of a change. The worship of such a document under such conflicting opinions and interpretations is not reverence, but superstition.

Fundit Lippmann is quoted as saying: speaking of the President's plan—
"Though it is an audacious and ingenious plan, it is at bottom a stupid plan."
How can a plan be at the same time an ingenious plan and a stupid plan? The two words are conflicting as a "Supreme Court" opinion—"Ingenious"—according to Webster's dictionary—means, unusual mental powers. Intelligent.
"Stupid"—means—dull of mind. Wanting in understanding.

SERVITUDE OR INVOLUNTARY SERVITUDE

There have been some great conflicts in amending the Constitution and some great presidents used methods that might be called using unfair methods to put the change of law through.

When Lincoln was President, he wanted to pass the Thirteenth Amendment which was as follows: Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

We can all now see plainly that there should not be slavery in the country and that any method Lincoln needed to use to put it over was justified.

Henry W. Lawrence, professor of history and political science at Connecticut College, recently wrote a summary of the way Abraham Lincoln got the 13th amendment into the Constitution.

Lincoln started it through during the Civil War. There were at that time 35 states in the American Union, including those which were then enrolled in the Southern Confederacy. Approval of 27 states was necessary if the amendment were to be approved.

How did Lincoln accomplish his end? By laying aside all his reverence for the sacred document, taking off his gloves, and playing the ancient game of politics for all it was worth.

The simple fact was that there were not, at that moment, 27 states which could be counted on to approve the amendment. So the military governors of those seceding states which had been occupied by federal armies were put to work. They applied pressure at the points of their soldiers' bayonets, and from these still unreconstructed states came the ratifications Lincoln needed.

Lincoln had another trick in his wallet. He had the territory of Nevada admitted as a state so that it could vote for ratification. Nevada had an absurdly small population, and getting Congress to approve its admission was a tough job—so tough that Lincoln needed every vote he could get, finally authorized the assistant secretary of war, Charles A. Dana, to go to three Democratic congressmen and promise them anything they wanted if they would vote for the measure.

As Professor Lawrence points out, this stratagem worked. The three congressmen named the appointments they wanted, Lincoln okayed them—and Nevada was admitted to the Union. Before Lincoln's death, the new state had ratified the pending 13th amendment.

It seems now, however, that instead of preserving voluntary servitude, the new method of changing the government is to prevent the individual from the right to voluntarily serve humanity as he sees fit. It is to again give back to the state the right to control the lives of individuals and tell what an individual may be permitted to work at in order to serve humanity. It seems to us to be the exact antithesis of Lincoln's abolition of slavery. It is selling us back under the domination of the state. The end certainly does not justify the method of again giving one man the right to regulate our lives. The Thirteenth Amendment was an amendment for freedom. The proposed legislation is a method of putting us back into slavery instead of freeing us from involuntary servitude.

THE MORE, THE SLOWER

The argument that increasing the Supreme Court will speed up decisions seems to be entirely erroneous. Instead of speeding them up, it would naturally seem that it would slow down decisions. If the majority of the Supreme Court are required to pass on a subject, the more there are necessary to pass on it, the slower the decision will be. There would be the slowest of the group and the more in the group, the more likely there is to be a slow man. There certainly would be a greater chance of being slowed down to have eight as a majority instead of five.

We have a representative form of government for the reason that we cannot take time to inform all of the voters, believing that a small group can become posted and intelligently decide things much more quickly than a large group.

Increase in numbers slow things up rather than speeds them up.

It Seems to Me by HEYWOOD BROWN

Dorothy Thompson, a brilliant commentator who has done distinguished work in the interpretation of European politics and economics for the American public, recently seems to be making a gallant attempt to familiarize herself with conditions here.

It would be a little captious to suggest that Miss Thompson might spend rather more time on home problems before she sets dogmatic opinions on the record. For, after all, every writer learns through trial and error. But it seems to me that Dorothy Thompson is popularizing an error which may be dangerous to the cause of democracy. Having watched Fascism at close hand in Germany and Italy, she quite properly is terrified at any similar growth in America. Still her thesis seems to be that any extension of the executive or legislative power is a step on the road toward dictatorship.

Fascism and the New Deal With that notion I quarrel violently. I think it is quite possible to have a highly centralized government which is at the same time thoroughly democratic. Any other theory plays into the hand of the potential dictator. After all, there are many millions in America whose estate is so precarious that where such action was really valuable. But at best cases of that kind never constitute more than a drop in the goblet.

In Its Own Hands

As a rule, labor gets what it fights for and not much more. And yet I am unwilling to agree that the possibilities of legislation are as limited as Miss Thompson believes. I had small faith in the integrity of Huey Long or the utility of his share-the-wealth plans even if he really meant to press them. Still, if Huey had lived, any opponent would have had a hard task to defeat him by saying, "If elected President I can do nothing for those who are in misery and want. My only argument is that Senator Long may fall short of those bright prospects which he has presented." In the very simple adage of the racetracks, "You can't beat a horse with no horse."

Now, I am not suggesting that when a demagogue comes along he can be shown up only by somebody who promises much more, but in the case of Roosevelt, who is less radical than I would desire, it is silly not to admit that some parts of his program actually have eased the burden of the underprivileged.

The Convalescent Eagle

I had some close contacts with the workings of the NRA. I know through my own experience that Section 7A was not much more than a straw. But when a drowning man is compelled to clutch even a feeble reed it is better than nothing.

Section 7A, while it proved ineffective as far as enforcement went, had a real psychological value to the trade union movement. John L. Lewis employed it to recruit many new members in the United Mine Workers of America. And in unorganized groups this will-o'-the-wisp, if you please, still served as a light to bring a certain number into their first steps out of darkness.

Incidentally, Miss Thompson makes a valuable contribution to the support of those who feel that the cry of "Why not an orderly amendment?" is mere obstructionism. Walter Lippmann, who shares a page with Miss Thompson, has recently brought out a quarter-page potential change in the Constitution. Seemingly, Dorothy Thompson is not much impressed, because in her own column a day later she threw into the field of discussion not one amendment but three. I submit that if one page of the Herald Tribune can hatch three and a quarter amendments it is pretty silly to talk of that particular approach as practical until there has been some meeting of the minds on one specific proposal.

I am no precisionist, and at the moment I can't remember the total number of Congressmen. But think of any figure you please and you must realize that the possible combination of constitutional changes reaches into those fantastic figures which never appear except in budgets or the minds of mystic mathematicians.

THE OPERATION

"What are tonsils, mother?"
"Two little things like flat strawberries that are at the top of your throat. There, just at the back of your mouth and the top of your throat, where it hurts you."

"Why do mine have to come out? Because they hurt?"
"Yes. They are making you sick and you can't have any fun, or father, either, when you are sick."

"Is the doctor going to take them out? Will he hurt me? How does he take them out?"
"He will take them out, snip, snip, and you won't feel it. It won't hurt you to have them come out. But afterward, by and by, it will hurt some. Like a scratch in the back of your throat."

"Where he cut me?"
"Yes, where he snipped out the tonsils. It will scratch a little. But that won't last long. It won't be any worse than having a sore throat the way you've been having."

"I never went to a hospital before. Did you?"
"O, my yes. It is a big place where sick people stay to get well. You'll see lots of things you never saw before. It will smell of medicine, and be very clean and shiny, and quiet. Nothing that will frighten you if you stop to think."

"After you are well we can go to grandma's. You know we haven't been there in almost a year? You had to stay in the house with the bad throat. Once that is out of the way we can go. I wonder if the kittens are big cats? And how many eggs the hens lay every day. You had great fun gathering them."

"Grandpa said there was going to be a little horse. Maybe he has come. I'd love to see a little horse. Wouldn't you, mother?"
"Wouldn't you, mother? Do they have hair like their mothers or do they come bare like birds? Isn't there some pictures of them in my farm book?"

Operations are not pleasant. It is difficult for a mother to prepare a child to face one, but it must be done occasionally, and the truth is the best way. Don't say it won't hurt, or that the doctor only wants to look at the sore place. Say little as possible, answer any questions the child may ask, and don't evade them. They may be the expression of a fear which, if cleared away by the right answer, will pass and leave no trace behind it.

Leave as short a time as possible between the event and its announcement. It is wise to save the child hours of worry. Save the new until the time is well at hand. Then do your best to be matter of fact and casual as possible.

If you cannot control yourself let somebody else stand by. The child catches your mood, and what he needs is courage, not fear. Be brave for his sake and you will find yourself getting through very well.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

DOUBTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Peculiar cross-currents of religious interest in President Roosevelt's court repacking program are noticeable deep within Congress.

A Texas representative who fought the Ku Klux Klan has been receiving letters from constituents whom he recognizes as former Ku Klux leaders, advising him to oppose the program. They give no reasons, and he says, this means they have some fear of a re-arrangement of constitutional religious guarantees. In addition, he has received many opposition letters from leading protestant ministers.

Editorials from the Catholic press are being circulated privately among the legislators who will vote on the plan. These express apprehension more directly. A typical example is that of the Catholic Register of Lincoln, Nebraska, which says: "Catholics had better study well any proposed changes or 'reforms' in the United States Supreme Court. Catholics in this nation owe a debt of gratitude to the judiciary of the country. Do you remember the Oregon School Bill?"

To make the circle complete, some Jewish members of Congress are reminding their colleagues of what happened in Germany when the constitution was superseded by a central authority.

With Jews, Catholics, Protestants and Ku Klux expressing doubts or open opposition, it will probably be necessary for Mr. Roosevelt to make some guarantees, not for himself, of course, but for his successors in the presidential office against any possible future short-cut alteration of the religious guarantee section of the constitution, such as is now being proposed for the interstate commerce and general welfare sections.

While such matters are rarely debated publicly in Congress, they have an influence privately on the legislators.

Now, I am not suggesting that when a demagogue comes along he can be shown up only by somebody who promises much more, but in the case of Roosevelt, who is less radical than I would desire, it is silly not to admit that some parts of his program actually have eased the burden of the underprivileged.

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Ma was looking at the paper and pop was smoking and thinking while they were waiting for Mr. and Mrs. Hewes to come and play bridge, Ma saying, Just what is a sit down strike, Willyum? Does it mean that working people sit right down and take possession of places that don't belong to them? she said.

That's the size of it, and it's a serious size, pop said. This government was built on the principal that what's mine is mine and what's yours is yours and never the twain shall meet without free process of law, but things seem to be changing. It's getting to be more like what's mine is yours and yours is ours and you're lucky if yours is the least, he said.

Well, I don't know, Willyum, I believe in looking at both sides of a one-sided question, Ma said. I mean, after all, a man's body is his own personal property too, and if he wants to make it uncomfortable on somebody's bare floor for an indefinite time whose body is it? she said and pop said, By golly there may be something in that, and it gives me an idea. I'm going to stage a sit down strike in this very chair, and you people that like bridge can go ahead and arbitrate among yourselves while I sit here and smoke and read, he said.

Now Willyum don't tawk unheard of nonsense, the Hewses will be here any minute and you've got to get ready or they'll catch you in your slippers, Ma said, and pop said, Whose feet are they?

Being a good answer, and Ma said, There's a time for idle jokes and this isn't it.

But I tell you I've hawt it all over and I think you're rite, pop said. Of course I may inconvenience a few people, but principals come before people, he said, and Ma said, O deer such a man, I'll run and get your shoes myself.

Which she quick did, pulling his slippers off and putting the shoes on instead, pop said, O well, if you're going to use force and teer gas and machine guns, what can I do, my conscience is clear.

Which just then Mr. and Mrs. Hewes came, and Ma hid the slippers and acted as if nothing hadn't happened.
